STEPPING STONES

Dear Joanne,

I guess after today you'll forget all about me but I hope not. I hope that you will be able to get your wish for next year and will have a lot of fun. You really have a lovely personality and should make the best of it. Lots of luck.

Joyce Thomas

Dear Jo Ann

I haven't known you very long but while I have got to sure been fun (fun that is) I hope that we have classes together next year

John Buckmiller

P.S. It's a shame you didn't do anything for Class Play or Prom. Would've been neat.

Dear Jo Ann,
I've been awful to have been so cute and adapted a girl so much fun. I'm glad you got things straightened out. I'm glad you appreciate it. Boy, time flies when you're having fun, doesn't it. Seems like yesterday I had a good time with Allen at Allen Junior High. Although I had a good time with Allen at Allen Junior High and Junior Assembly and Junior Prom, I'm sure glad I'm going with you to Senior Assembly, Senior Prom and Senior Banquet. I'm sure it's going to be a lot of fun. I'm looking forward to it. Well, there's the bell, so I'll close. Hope you have a wonderful summer. Keep cool. Write soon. Love, Joyce

P.S. Thanks for the invitation to the party. I'd love to go with you. I'll see you then.

Hi Pal been swell
Its really knowing you and we've had some swell times
Here's wishing you the best

Dear Jo anne
Here's to a swell kid and I hope you come to granite next Yr. See you soon
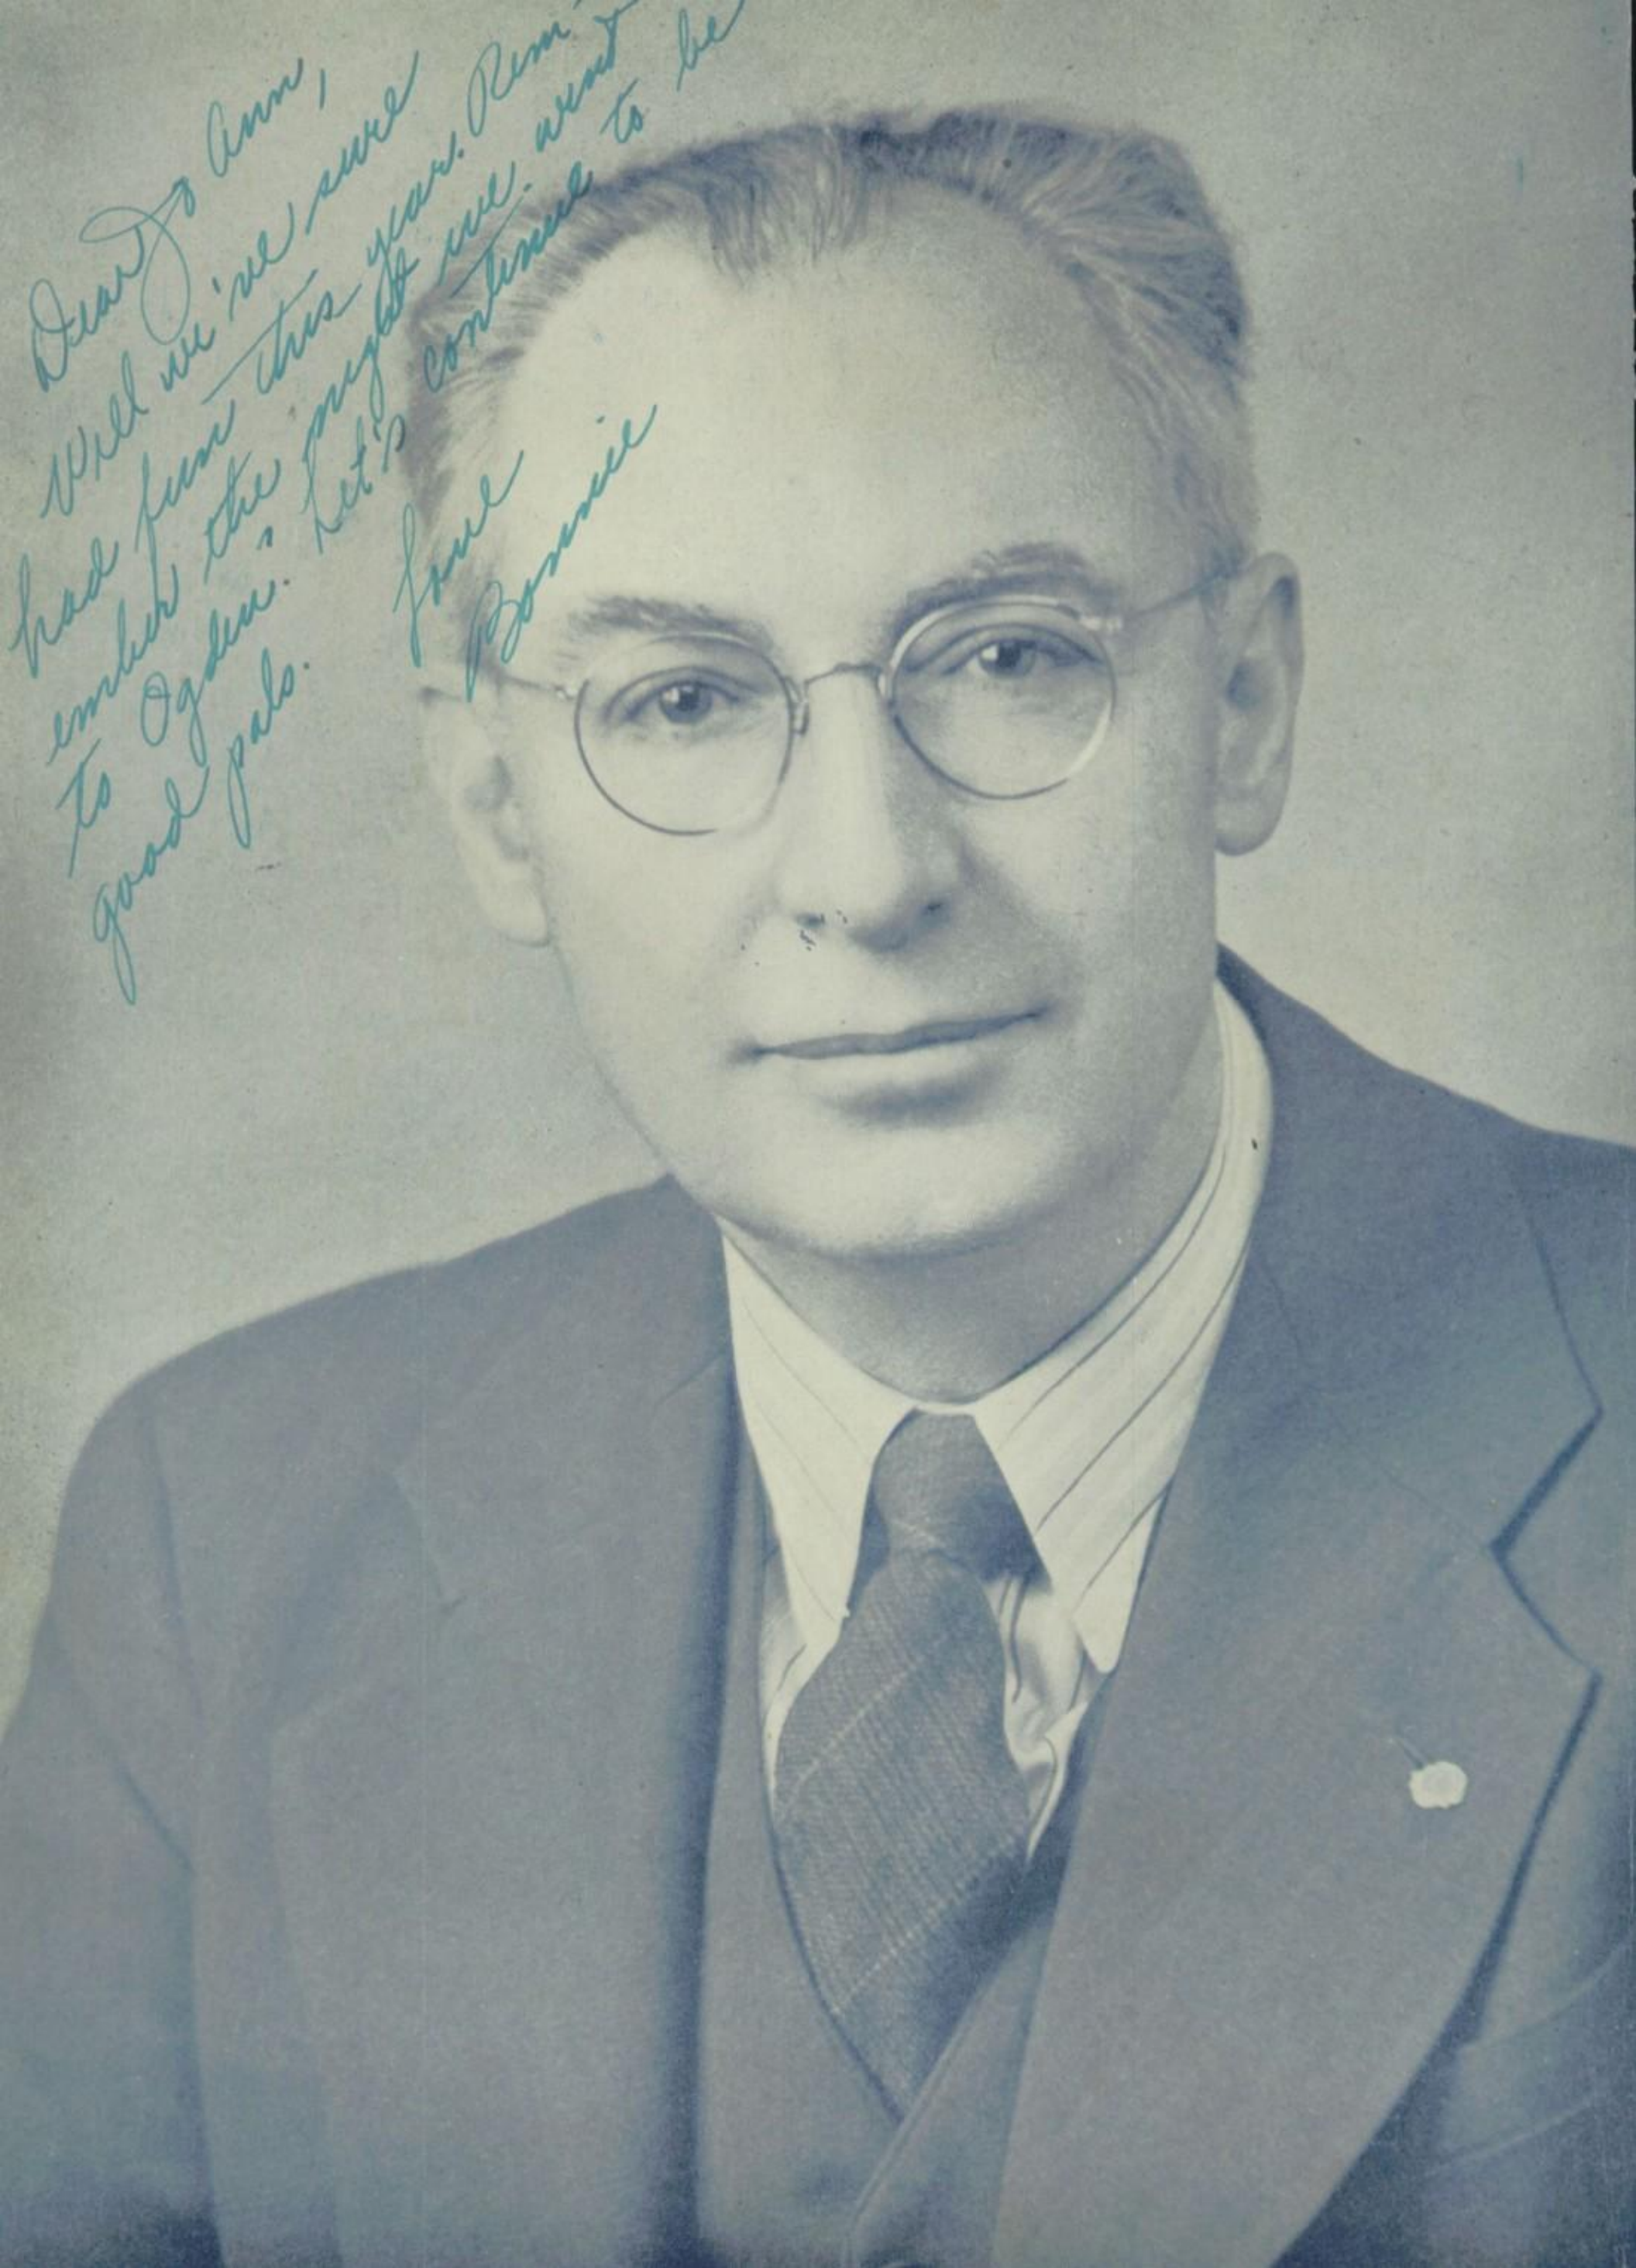
Jack Nuttall

Ring out echoes and shout ye stars to proclaim the might and glory of the name of Granite. Stolid, mute, and strong, this rock becomes a monument to the great heart of our school. Mica, sparkling in the noon-day sun, is symbolic of the victories and achievements which have been hers, while quartz is characteristic of the strength and determination that have made her respected and feared. The crystalline minerals, glittering and scintillating, are her ideals of manhood and womanhood. In all its pristine elegance granite expresses best the spirit of this great institution we know and love.

Build in us the granite of your heart so that we may face life's problems and trials with fortitude. Give to us your strength that we may have the courage to find the happiness we desire. Most of all leave with us the calm of your spirit that we may find tranquility and peace.



Dear Ann,
Well we've sure had fun this year. Remember the night we went to Ogden. Let's continue to be good pals.
Love
Bonnie

DEDICATION

To LeRoy Hillam, in sincere and deep appreciation for his integrity and spirit of service which have found basic ideals for perfection, we dedicate this 1940 Granitian. An inspired leader, he has lent his tireless enthusiasm as sponsor of the Granitian from 1937 to 1945. During this time the yearbook attained six all-American ratings and three first-place honors.

An authority on agriculture, he has achieved seven state championships in crop judging and identification. Specializing in home farming, he has inspired young agriculturists and helped them with their numerous difficulties. Serving as the sponsor for the Ag. Club, he has become a companion to everyone.

With his genial smile, incomparable wit, and alert personality he has won a niche in the hearts of all Granitians.

Dear Jo Ann,
Really I am sorry to miss you
next year if you got to.
East. I do Ann I wish you
Wells, Fly to East Stacy!
We could have so much fun.

IN MEMORIAM

Blow bugle blow and

Ring oh bells,

Proclaim for Granite's honored dead.

And yet they are not dead;

For memory brings them alive in our hearts

And they are with us.

They walk with us in the halls

And sit beside us in the classroom.

Immortality is theirs in living thoughts.

They are not dead — men of Granite —

For peace is in our hearts

And we walk more nobly because of them.

Dear Jo,
I don't know you any to well but what I do know of you, I think your swell no fooling. I hope we can get better acquainted next year. Have fun during the summer. See you next year. Love

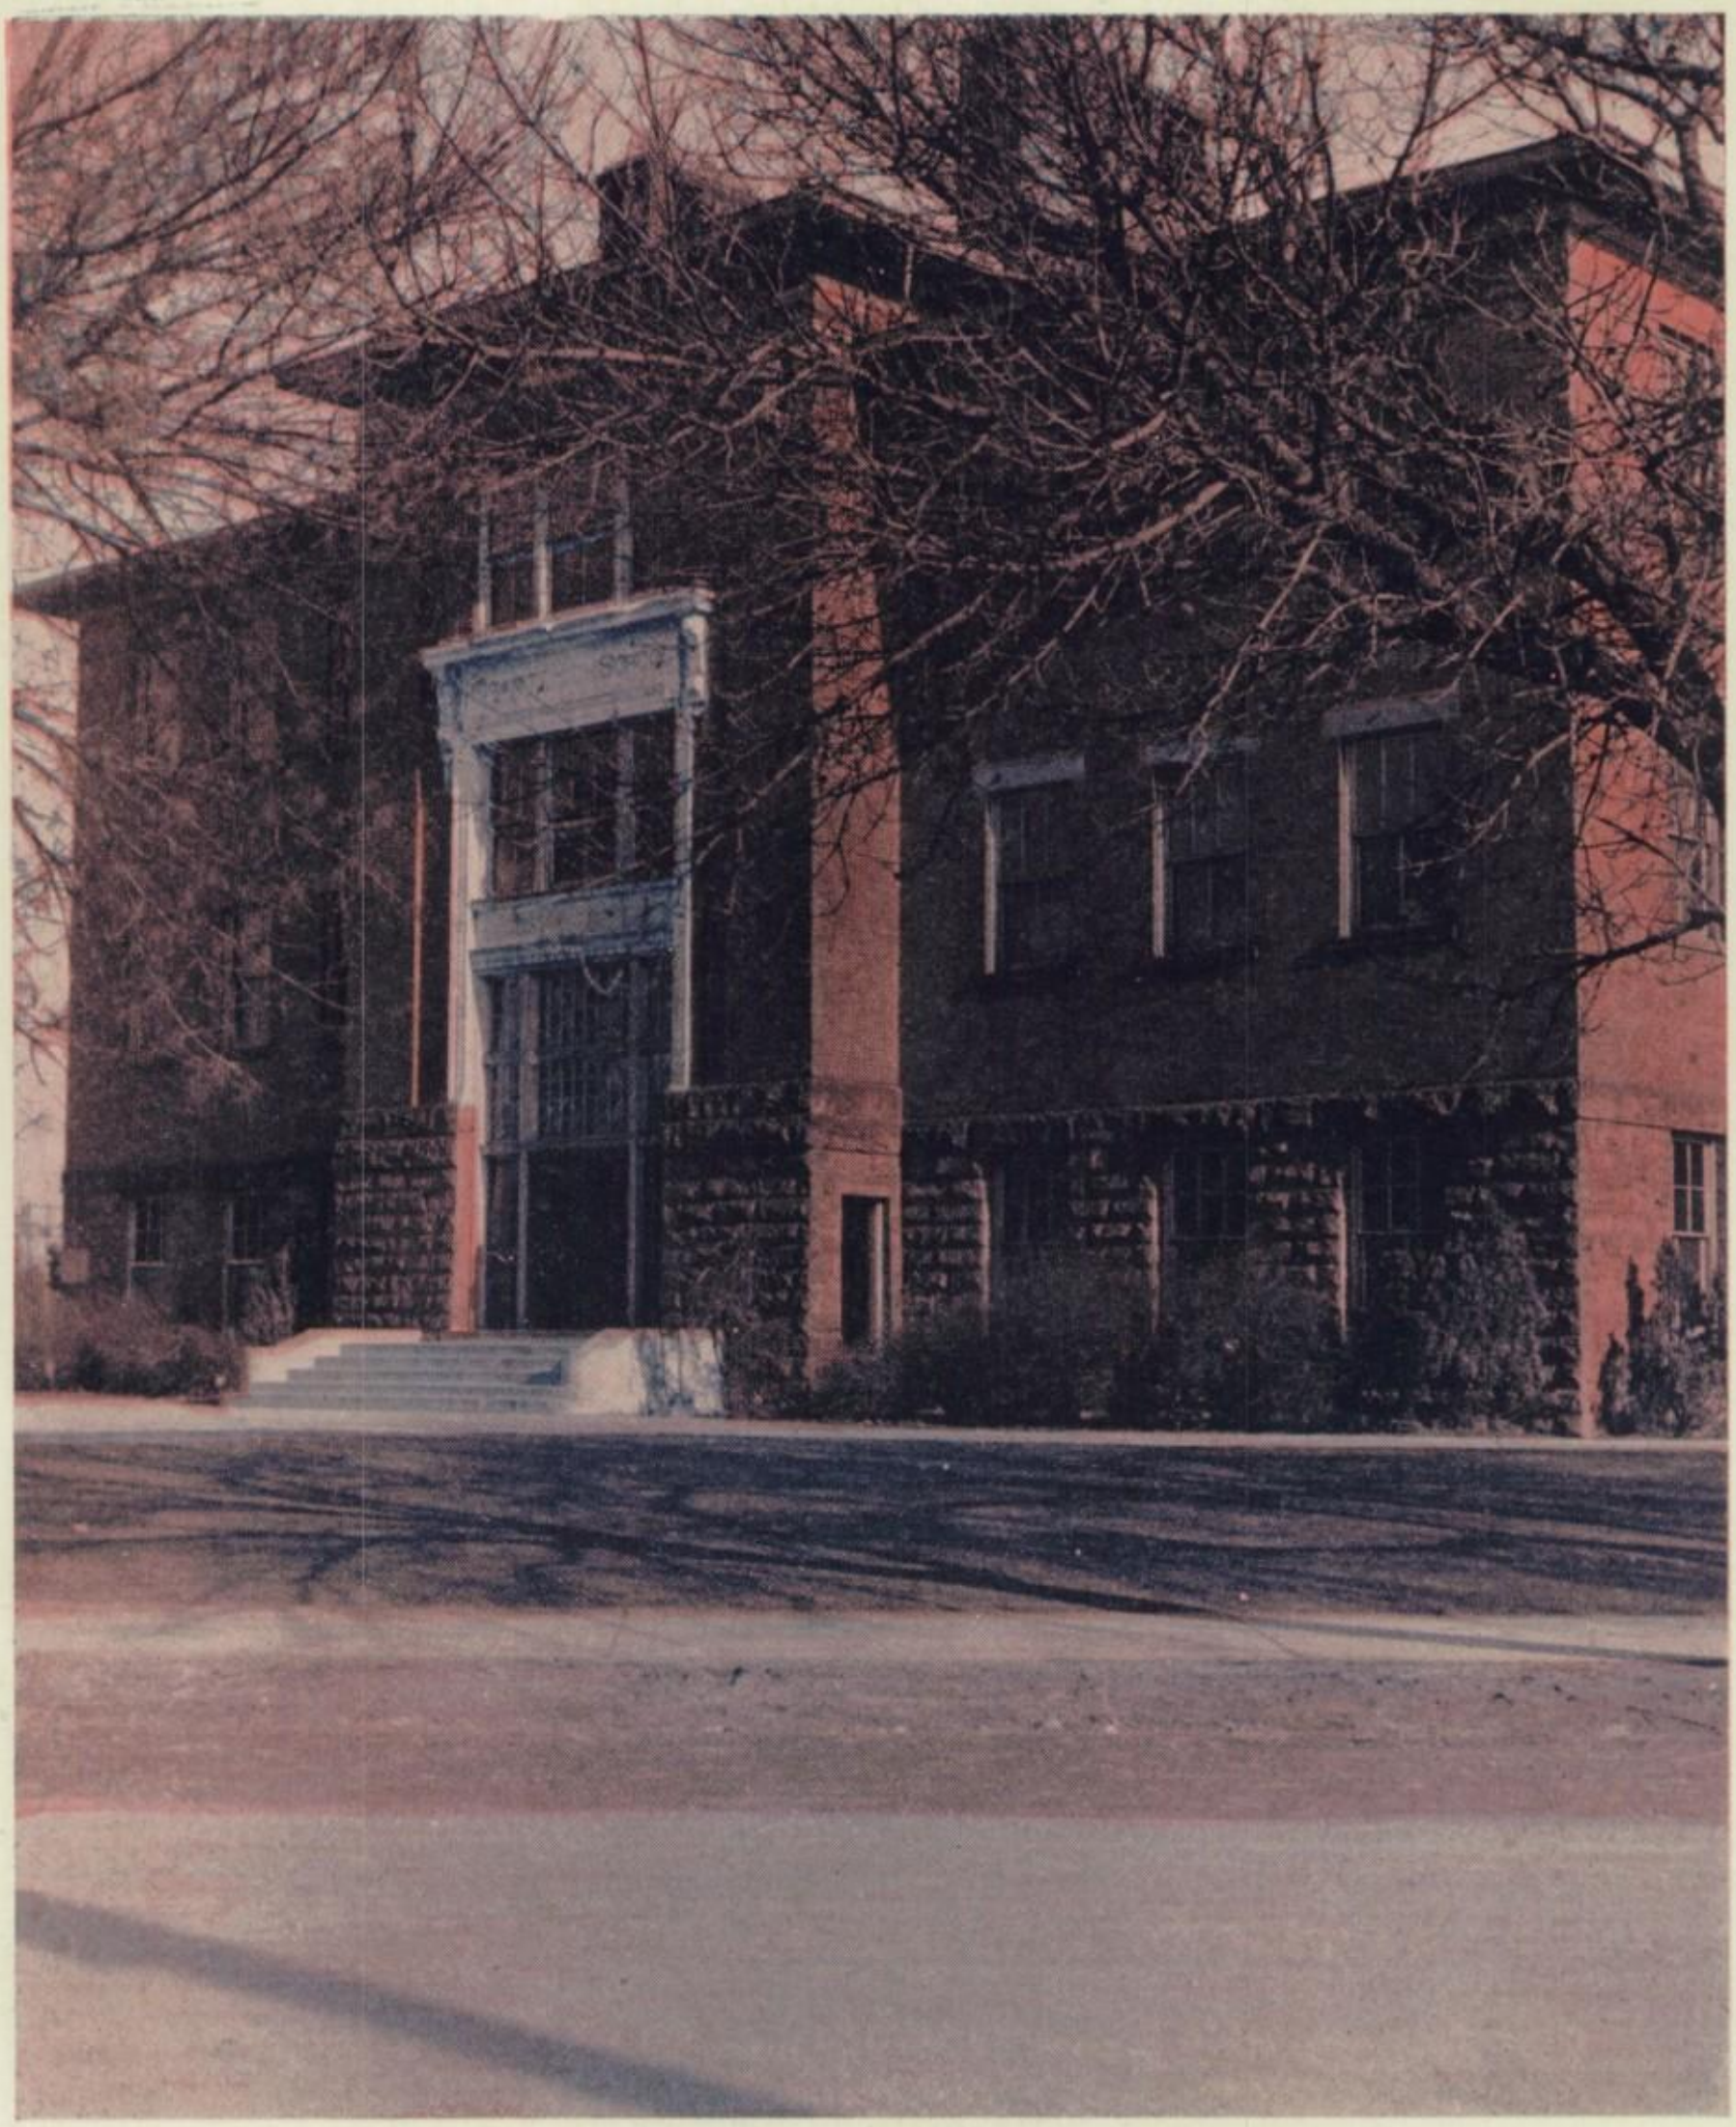
With glad hearts we welcome the return of Granitian servicemen. Looking to the future with eyes of hope, they return to Granite to renew their faith in the ideals and strength of their beloved Alma Mater. The flag is the symbol of their loyalty, courage and service. We salute them, and may the blessing of God ever attend them.



The setting sun casts a rosy glow on the aging "L" building, reflecting again the bright and rich traditions which have radiated from its halls. Its silent rooms hold memories of work and play, of songs and yells, of laughter and sometimes of tears. Quietly it stands, a reminder of high ambition and dreams fulfilled.

"She will remember, you'll not forget her
Though you are far away,
She is calling, calling to you ever,
Honor the grand old 'G'."

Peace hovers over Granite . . . .

Hi Jo,
Tell you beautiful girl with the beautiful name. — You really been a help to me in geometry. You're really a swell pers and deserve all the luck in the world.

We converse on the steps and cheer at the games

Students take time out for fresh air in their few minutes between class journeys across the campus . . . exchange salutations . . . wonder about next class activities . . . anticipate the rest of the day.

Warmly clad football fans vie with one another for the camera's attention while awaiting the final half. We assume Granite was winning . . . note the smiling faces and generally prevailing happiness . . . cheerleaders get loving embraces from friends in the crowd.

We Relax . . . We Converse . . . We Romance

Granite's campus once more puts on its winter coat . . . shapes itself into soft, feathery pillows of glistening snowflakes . . . tempts many students to ponder over its potentialities as snowballs . . . provides reasons for soothing day-dreaming . . . leaves the campus as quickly as it comes.

Minus books, pencils and notes, under the warm noonday sun students tell jokes . . . discuss tests . . . worry about unprepared assignments . . . exchange views about current "heart-throbs" . . . dream about future lazy days.

Nothing like pre-spring fever days to bring out the gang of curious kids who wonder if the jalopy can take any more weight . . . who decide that old cars are as good as new ones if they just run.

An unusual campus scene . . . industrious students gather around flagpole during the noon hour for last-minute cramming.

Distraught geometry students glance anxiously back to Mr. Holmes' room during semester test week . . . others stroll hopefully on to their next class.

Camera catches early morning scene . . . the snowy carpet framing the traditional "S" building is unmarred by students' footprints.

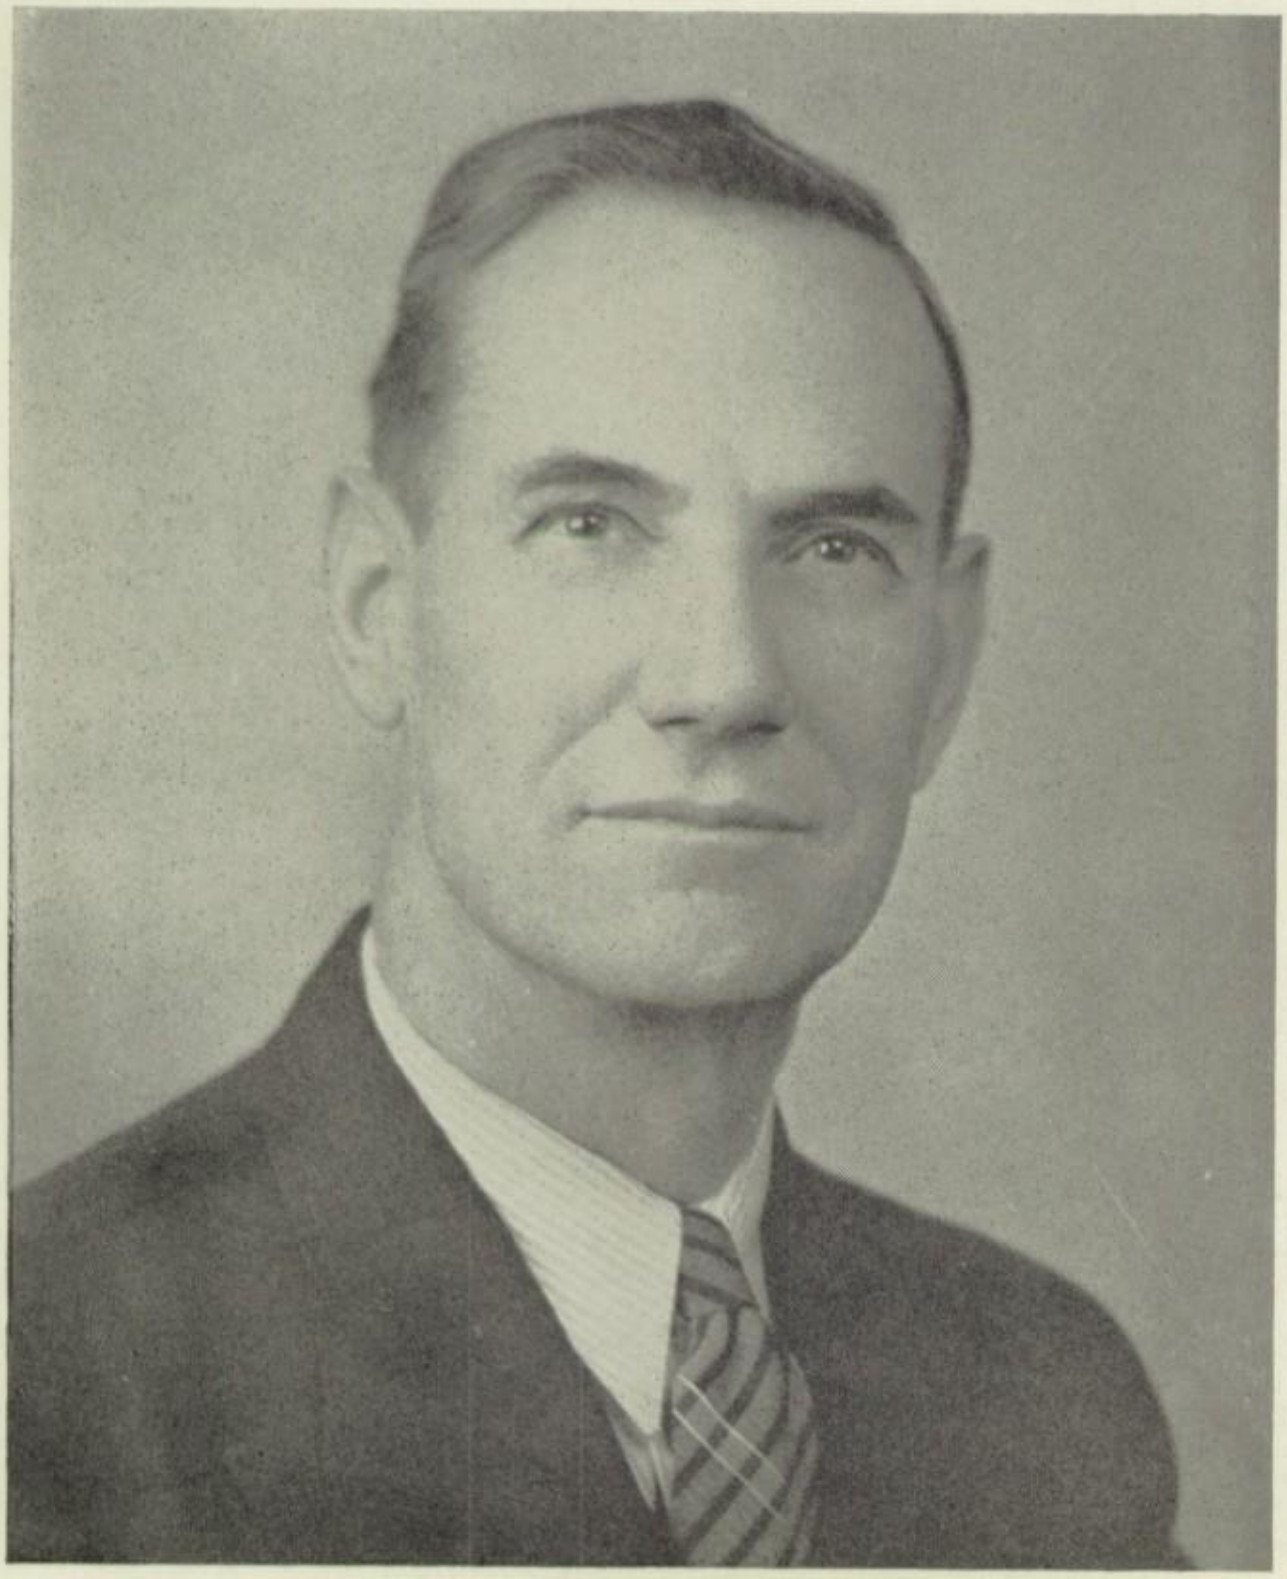
We obtain support from the school board



Looking after the educational facilities and physical needs of the many thousands of students of the Granite Schools requires the time, energy, and intelligence of the public-spirited men who comprise the Granite Board of Education. These five men meet regularly at the District Office together with the superintendent and clerk to consider the needs of the District and to formulate plans to meet these needs. Such trusteeship in education is typically American.

Student Body Officers Plan an Eventful Homecoming Day

BELVA BARLOW JACK ZACKRISON JUNE HOWLETT

Not often heard from, but working hard behind the school with their talents and energy were the SENATORS. They edited our "G" handbook and ably represented us in our student government. Seated: Norma Lee Madsen, June Howlett, Mr. Payne, adviser; Yvonne Muir, Joyce Harmon. Standing: Belva Barlow, Jack Ehlers, John Alder and Drostan Baker.

The COURT OFFICERS found themselves busy this year trying cases referred to them by the deputies and planning campaigns to clean up our campus. The officers were Shirley Chamberlin, secretary; Mr. Thorpe, adviser; Walt Caine, judge, and Lowell Sorenson, baliff. Not shown is Sherm Ryan, prosecuting attorney.

Granitian democracy lives

The members of the HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES were elected by the students to present their viewpoints and to act on bills to improve the school. The members of this branch of our student government were: First row: Norma Ence, secretary of the House; Keith Bunker, Arvon Harrison, Dee Sevrson, Jeannine Davis. Second row: Mr. Payne, adviser; Clarence Anderson, Bob Niederhauser, Gerald Sainsbury, Kenneth Long, Grant Sorenson, Duane Gardner. Third row: Annette Burrows, Frances Stillman, Anne Reynolds, Barbara Bonham, Jeannine Roper, Luella Burton, Jane Lightfoot, Jackie Hoggan, Shirley Clark, Merry Ann Ashton. Fourth row: Marvin Ruff, Gerald Coats, John Smith, Boyd Smith, Rodney Cook, Bonnie Manwill, Janice Reid, Lucile Gygi, Dorothy Bishop, Shirley Fernelius, Bob Gambee, speaker of the House; Richard Siggard, Scott Beesley, Dick Barker.

They serve

Throwing snowballs, eating in the halls, littering the campus, causing disturbances—these and other misdemeanors meant receiving a court summons from one of the COURT DEPUTIES. These appointed students enforced the law and order at Granite and often sacrificed their noon periods to police our halls and campus.

Laughingly nicknamed the "Sacs," the STUDENT ACTIVITY COUNCIL, newly organized this year, was the motivating force behind many student activities. This energetic group polished up "the old school spirit" and helped make our matinee dances successful.

Dear Jo Ann,

Golly, I don't know what to say it's been so long since I've written in these things - two whole weeks almost.

I used to wonder who that cute little girl was who got on our bus at the same bus stop and the girl who used to walk by with the cute boy. I'm really glad I found out because besides being cute, you're awfully nice and a heck of a lot of fun to be with.

We'll have to get together this summer being as we used to neighbors and get to know

Like the keystone in an arch, each class has played an essential part in providing entertainment, color, and life to our school. The Sophomores have inspired us with their youth and spontaneity; the Juniors, with their know-how and Prom, and the Seniors with their wisdom and leadership.

Sophomores grow

As regular as the tide, as irrevocable as time, Sophomores come and go.

Daily we meet them in the halls, up to their necks in books, chattering, laughing, kidding. Some of them are blatantly confident; others wistfully inadequate and shy. Some are prematurely wise; others very, very green. They find great difficulty in remembering to skirt the sacred seal, locate class rooms, prepare home lessons, and lower their raucous voices. Then a miracle takes place . . . they discover the master architect . . . a voice . . . a hand. . . . A year . . . two years pass . . . they leave us . . . shiny, new adults,ready to put a broken world together again.

SOPHOMORES — DOOMED AND SAVED AND DAZED AND WAKED BY LOVE

Early in August the long, long line of Sophomores began to form in front of Miss Clauson's desk for registration . . . final count: 550.

Their idea of heaven was Tony's, where they supplied themselves with frosted malts, candy bars, popcicles, gum and cookies.

Hourly Sophomores unraveled the "Lost and Found," seeking misplaced wallets, pens, books and locker keys.

Leaders of courtesy

THE USHERETTES . . . present at all entertainments of the Granite Arts Association . . . labor for courteous service . . . complimented by patrons . . . dutiful maidens all.

THE USHERS . . authoritative body of assemblies . . . leaders of courtesy . . strive for a law-abiding citizenry . . . refuse to show favoritism . . . directed by George Adamson . . . appointed by Student Body officers . . . object of much criticism . . . respected by all loyal Granitians.

Dear Jo Ann,
To a fine associate and the best of friends. Good Luck Always,
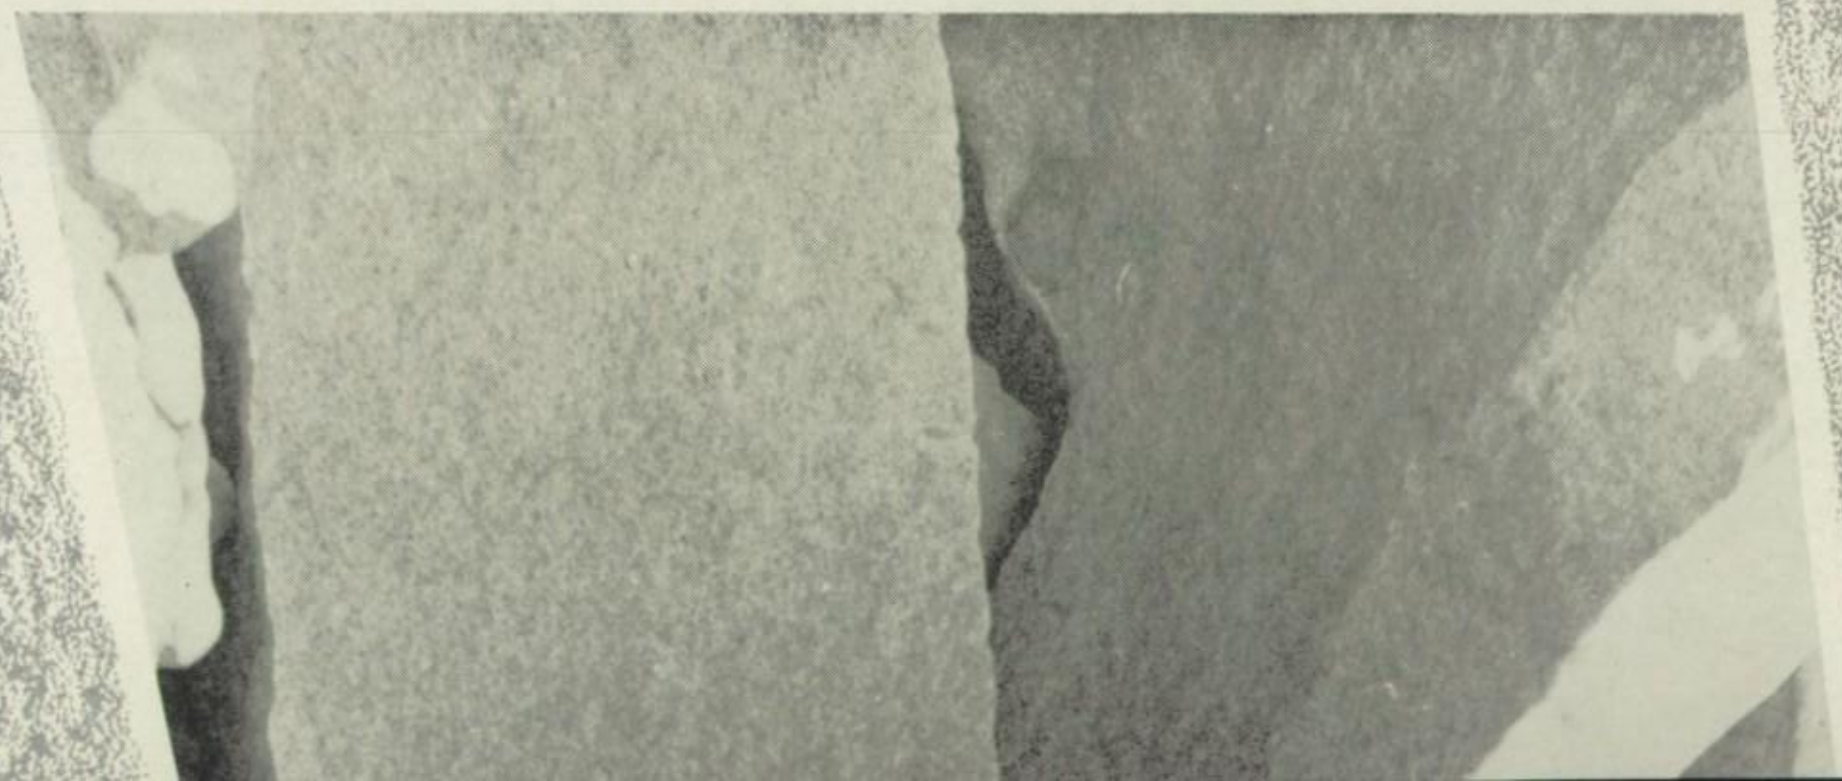
Arline Mcos.

BUILDING STONES



Activities are the building stones of our characters and personalities. A glorious chapter in the history of activities at Granite has been written this year. Drama! Music! Art! Debating! Assemblies! Dances! May our pleasure in them remain long in our memories.

Mystery chosen for annual school play

Flickering lights, glowing eyes in the dark, disappearing characters, screams in the night, and howling winds characterized the annual school play, "Tiger House." Erma Lowrie (Darlene Merrill), heir to Mystery Manor, hired a detective, Mac Intosh (Henry Cameron), who was also here secret lover, to solve the mysterious happenings which occurred in and about Mystery Manor. In the end Arthur (Keith Christensen), Erma's cousin, was uncovered as the culprit.

Miss Langlois, director; Miss Frandsen, art department, and Mr. Poulson, stage director, contributed to the excellent quality of the play. — —

Upper: Darlene Merrill watches helplessly as Keith Christensen, the villain, abducts Edith Chamberlin. Our hero, Henry Cameron, waits for the showdown.

Center: Martin Hendricksen looks surprised as he gazes at unconscious Erwin Wilson, while Marilyn Williamson, Jay Christensen, Barbara Eccles and Dawn Bennion look on. — —

Right: The villain, Keith Christensen, Martin Hendricksen and Erwin Wilson watch with interest the demonstration by hero and heroine. — —

Drama club displays achievements

Eager members set the stage at the beginnin g of the year with an initiation party . . . concentrated on developing dramatic talents in each member by participation in plays. . .displayed their achievements on their annual assembly . . . sponsored a delightful student body dance . . . were directed by Miss Langlois . . . excelled in production of future Thespians.

Bottom: The entire club poses to display its talents of make-up application, gesticulation, dramatization.

Orchestra and Chorus

"Music Hath Charms." The Granite High School Orchestra under the capable direction of Adolph Brox, sounded melodious strains of musical scores from the pen of Tschaikowsky, Sigmund Romberg, and Victor Herbert on numerous occasions throughout the year. The orchestra represented the school at the Teachers' Institute held in the Assembly Hall on the Temple grounds last fall with descriptive, harmonious musical selections, added a spooky atmosphere at the school play, "Tiger House," provided a touch of Christmas spirit at the oratorio, and welcomed spring with light, gay musical melodies at the Spring Festival.

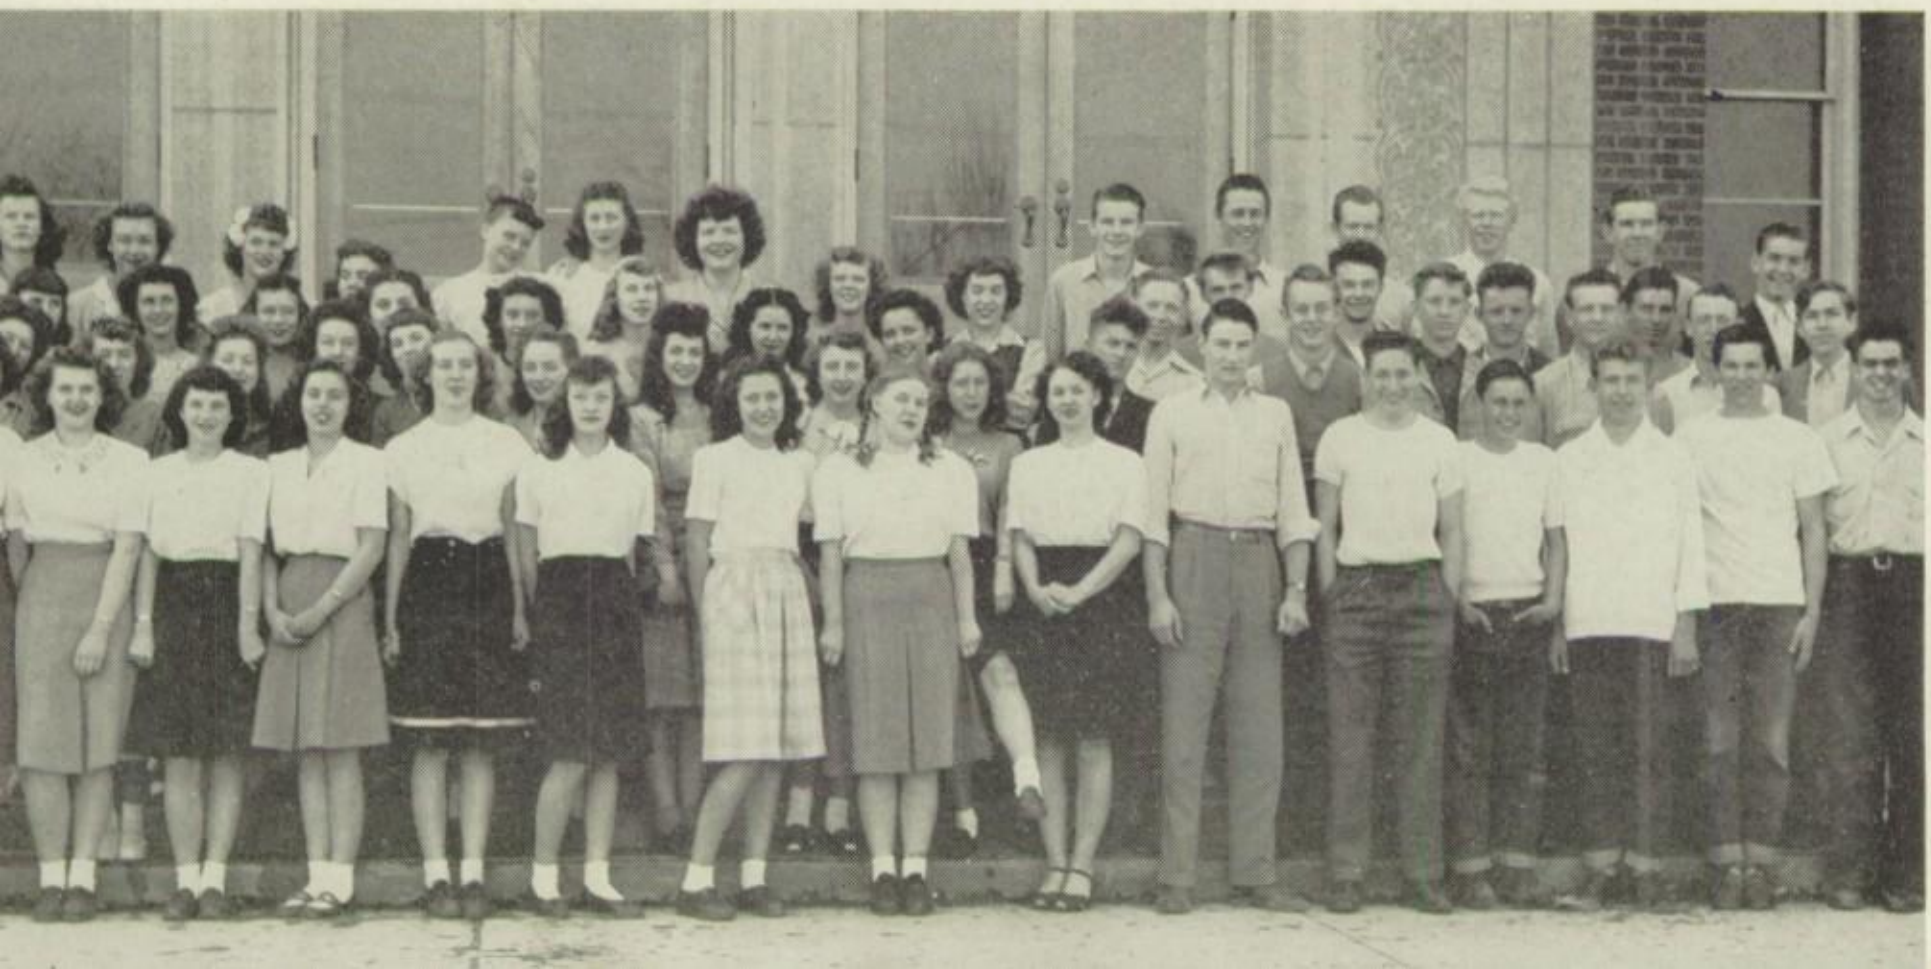
have an eventful year

As the year's supreme musical effort, the chorus and orchestra presented an Easter program on April 15 under the direction of John Marlowe Nielson and Adolph Brox.

The spotlight centered on Norma Lee Madsen, violin soloist, who rendered a moving interpretation of "Indian Love Call" and "Hungarian Dance No. 7."

After presenting the inspiring hymn, "The Lord's Prayer," the combined chorus shifted its rhythm patterns to the delightful "Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater." Robert Cassity and Joline Welch provided solo roles.

Varying from "Humoresque" to "On the Trail," the orchestra balanced between the old favorites and the works of modern composers.



THE BAND ON PARADE

Under the able direction of Adolph Brox the band has made decisive progress this year. Though a somewhat smaller group than usual, it has developed into a promising organization, which needs to be watched in the future.

THE GIRLS' TREBLE CHORUS

The Treble Chorus, a group of nine girls, was chosen from both mixed choruses. Their fine blending was heard on assembly programs and at an evening concert over station KALL. Coached by John Marlowe Nielson, the members were Barbara Eccles, pianist; Dawn Bennion, Anita Walker, Joline Welch, Mary Kasteler, Darleen Merrill, Marie Bagley, Barbara Tuckel, Bona Draper and Charlene Lloyd.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT PRESENTS CHRISTMAS CANTATA

With the dramatic strains of Hallelujah from Handel's Messiah the combined chorus concluded the Christmas Concert. Presented by the orchestra under the baton of Adolph Brox and the chorus under the direction of John Marlowe Nielson, the program rendered a musical thrill to the audience. The theme, "The Life of Christ," was portrayed by traditional folk songs, among which were "Joy to the World," "Silent Night" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing."

The audience was held spellbound by the harmonious blending of voices, the shifting tempos, the selection of melodies and the superb guidance.

Watching alertly, the students followed every movement and change of mood, reflected in the expression of the instructors.

Among the music-loving listeners were such distinguished guests as Superintendent Gourley and Mr. Strong, who plainly displayed their enthusiasm.

'45 DEBATERS WIN HONORS

In the region meet last year Granite placed first, second and third in extemporaneous speaking; second in oratory, and also placed three debate teams in the state meet. Granite's Betty Peterson won first place in oratory and Allan Howe placed third in extemporaneous speaking in state competition.

WE PLACE FIRST AT WEBER

Shades of competition! Belva Barlow and Shirley Chamberlin placed first at Weber Meet in women's debate against 63 girls' teams from 22 schools. The boys tied for fourth in debate, while El Dean Bennett placed fourth in extemporaneous speaking. Belva Barlow and Shirley Chamberlin, undefeated this year, along with Maurine Nielson and Arlan Johnson will represent Granite in the State Meet. Belva Barlow, winning first in the district meet, will represent us in extemporaneous speaking.

Below: A debate in session . . . "Resolved: That every able bodied male citizen of the U. S. should have one year of full-time military training." Students are El Dean Bennett, Nard Miller, Maurine Nielson and Jackie Dansie.

Shown at one of the Debate Club's weekly noon meetings are Maurine Nielson, Belva Barlow, Darleen North, Gaylen Jackson, Joyce Daybell, Shirley Fernilius, El Dean Bennett, Maralin Payne, Ramona Hiatt, Iris Hiatt, Arlan Johnson, Deane Marshall, Gloria Coleman, Dixie Parkinson, Hyrum Plaas, Beverly Campbell, Ada Whiteley, Shirley Chamberlin.

Mr. Adamson and Mrs. Mackay, sponsors, are also in attendance.

DEBATE CLUB

We Argue, We Sing, We Eat

"We of the affirmative therefore maintain—". This quotation will ring familiarly in the ears of all members of the Debate Club in the coming years . . . two meetings a week brought opportunities for heated discussions on the national debate question—compulsory military training . . . cottage meetings every week promoted intelligent participation in debating, broadened social program . . . an energetic canyon party, an early morning breakfast at school, and other worthwhile activities provided the play along with the work . . . West and American Fork were visited for participation in debate . . . East, South, and South Summit were guests in the course of the year . . . production of capable debaters was the outstanding accomplishment of the year.

Home Ec Club assists Red Cross

One of the major projects carried on by the Home Economics Club during the year was the filling of Red Cross boxes to be mailed to the children of war-torn Europe. Each member of the club contributed gifts, such as boxes of pencils, soap, toothpaste, dolls or packages of books, which were assembled in small individual boxes and sent to assist in the educational rehabilitation of children abroad. An initiation party, a Thanksgiving dinner, and a spring luncheon were other activities featured by the club.

MUSIC CLUB

Melodic voices were the keynote to the success of the Music Club this year . . . under the direction of Mr. Nielson, sponsor; Blaine Hudson, Virginia Mackay and Betty Moser, officers, the Club reached full sway on its Assembly, where both chorus and audience participated in the song "Don't Fence Me In." . . . Mr. Nielson's first year at Granite was a successful one . . . his students listened attentively as he demonstrated the proper use of vocal chords . . . he had the full support of Club members all through the year and promoted musical interest among the entire Student Body, as well as among club members.

Music stimulates Christmas spirit

The club started the idea of Christmas caroling extensively in the halls . . . serenaded us beautifully as we sat patiently in our classes the day before holidays began . . . sponsored annual Music Festival in the early spring.

Commercial club

Future business leaders of America gathered together at the beginning of the year to further social as well as intellectual interests. After electing officers—Donna Mae Forbush, Margaret Paul and Maurine Nielson—they proceeded to show their versatility and good sportsmanship on Initiation Day. Members dressed according to prescription, and later in the day paid initiation "fees." At their Christmas party they exchanged gifts and said goodbye to friends until after the holidays . . . upon their return they made plans for the publication of the "Kommershal Klarion," a booklet of current commercial and other school activities . . . and ended the year by entering the annual Commercial contests.

Middle: Joyce Daybell, Karel Pinckney, Joyce Elmen, Lila Lindsay and Maurine Neilson take dictation to practice for competition in contests.

Lower: Carol Jean Graff, Gloria White and Jack Bryan practice typing technique for second year typists.

Top: La Donna Hinkle, Barbara Eccles, Shirley Chamberlin, Jane Beebout and Keith Bergstrom, winners in the Search for Talent Assembly.

SEARCH FOR TALENT ASSEMBLY

Shirley played Chopin's "Polonaise" . . . Jane sang "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess" . . . Keith gave us an Irish lullabye. . . . Students and judges liked their selections immensely . . . especially the "Polonaise," which won first place and a five dollar prize.

Math club promotes activities

The Gamma Mu Sigma were a wideawake part of the campus affairs this year. They sponsored the dart booth on Mom's and Dad's night . . . conducted a search for talent assembly and a chess tournament . . . had parties . . . up the canyon . . . in the park and in the clubroom. The sponors were Miss Lyons and Mr. Holmes; the officers, Ross Allen, Lynn Snider, Zelda Hoggan.

Middle: A group of "future farmers" plant their victory garden seeds early.

Lower: Ag. Club President Bob Eardley, Secretary Bob Howe, George Crabtree and Kazuto Namba learn to identify various plants.

FUTURE FARMERS DISPLAY THEIR KNOWLEDGE

The Ag. Club is composed of future farmers whose aim is to improve rural living. Most of the members plan to make agriculture their vocation.

At their annual "Barn Dance" "levis and aprons" were featured, and Ramona Hill was crowned as queen.

The crops team, composed of Herschel Pederson, George Crabtree and Charles Atkinson, won the State Crop Judging and Identification contest at U.S.A.C. April 5 in competition with 47 Utah high schools.

As part of their program, they have pruned the rose garden, planted and cared for plants to be used in landscaping the campus.

GRANART GUILD

The Granart Guild was formed to stimulate social activities, to develop an interest in art appreciation and to develop personal qualities. Officers are: Sterling Smith, president; Shirley Ramshaw, vice president; Ruth Kendrick, secretary, and Evelyn Harrison, treasurer.

SPANISH CLUB

Officers: Norma Ence, Milton Eatchel and Lucille Gygi.

A bowling and skating party were foremost on the 1946 fun calendar of the Language Arts Club. The club, organized for the benefit of Granitian students who are studying Spanish, is fast becoming one of the most popular in the school because of the good times planned for every occasion. Daniel Skala, Jewell Miller and Joyce Haslam prepare "Las Pinatas," as a special project for Dad's Night.

The 1946 Pep Club . . . composed entirely of senior girls . . . organized to promote school spirit and give encouragement to the team . . . wore distinctive uniforms . . . proved helpful at basketball games and assemblies.

1946 Pep club

Safety group educates students

Traffic safety on the campus and the near highways has been closely scrutinized this winter by the Student Safety Committee. Posters, assemblies and cooperation with the state and county traffic officers have been a part of their program. They are interested in the health and safety of all Granitians. Members of the traffic committee were, front row: Jane Lightfoot, Shirley Clark, Jackie Hoggan, Dee Severson. Back row: Mr. Holmes, Mr. Green, Clarence Anderson, Duane Gardner.

A frolicking, mischievous bunny, Marilyn Williamson, won first prize; and a cuddly, gurgling baby, Drostan Baker, won second prize on Character Day, sponsored by the Boys' League . . . a "Truth or Consequences" assembly provided an hour of mirthful entertainment . . . members filled Christmas baskets for the needy families.

The Christmas season found everyone going all out in support of the Christmas Box Drive, sponsored by the Girls' League. The students provided twelve needy families with thirty boxes of all kinds of food. Making last-minute preparations are Barbara Barlow, Hugh Baird and El Dean Bennett.

The little Sophomore sisters completely mastered the art of handling the seniors, or so it seems here as they are "served" by their big sisters. The Big and Little Sister party was held Feb. 26 with a program, games and food for all.

Getting ready to eat are, standing: seniors Stella Tomasini, Helen Hayes and Marjorie Thompson. Seated are sophomores Charlene Burgess, Barbara Lloyd and Carol Cook.

The Boys' League started the new year with a winter dance on Jan. 26. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of June Pendleton as "Snow Queen."

Here are found officers and dates: Winifred Candland, Boyd Olson, LeRoy Quick, Peggy Fitzgerald, Helen Marshall and Bruce Andreson. All appear intensely interested in the chocolates won by attendants Winifred Candland and Peggy Fitzgerald.

In an effort to create greater student interest, the staff has used for the theme of this volume the name "Granite." Their aim has been to express in word and picture the individuality of this institution as well as to give an effective presentation of its work. They have endeavored to feature not only those students who are outstanding on the football field or on the stage, but also those who participate in the classrooms, the laboratories and the shops.

As a parting word they wish to express their appreciation for the help and advice received from Merie Bosh, George Adamson, the Arrow Service, Paragon Press and Ecker Studio.

The duties of a reporter and copy writer on a yearbook are many and varied. Every organization and activity must be covered and summarized; all individuals must be identified; headings and captions must be attractively displayed, and copy carefully edited. Though the work is arduous at times, no other activity in school offers more opportunities for the development of talent, initative and individuality.

We hear plans for a recreational center

Who among us has not longed in vain for a bowling alley, a reading room, a snack shop, or a dancing floor all of our own. However, such facilities may be ours if the present plans of the Parents' and Teachers' Association materialize. Realizing the serious social problems confronting youth today, the Granite P.T.A. in an effort to raise money for a County Recreational Center, sponsored an entertainment to be known in the future as a "Fiesta for Youth." They were assisted in this project by most of the civic organizations of the district.

Desirous, also, to strengthen the relationship between the home and the school, they again invited parents to return to the classrooms to meet the teachers and become better acquainted with student problems and needs.

In charge of this year's activities were Mrs. Barlow Muir, president, Mrs. Albert Capson, Mrs. Ross Fox, Mrs. Hyrum Hilton, vice-presidents; Mrs. W. W. Dansie and Miss Ann Pehrson, secretary and treasurer.

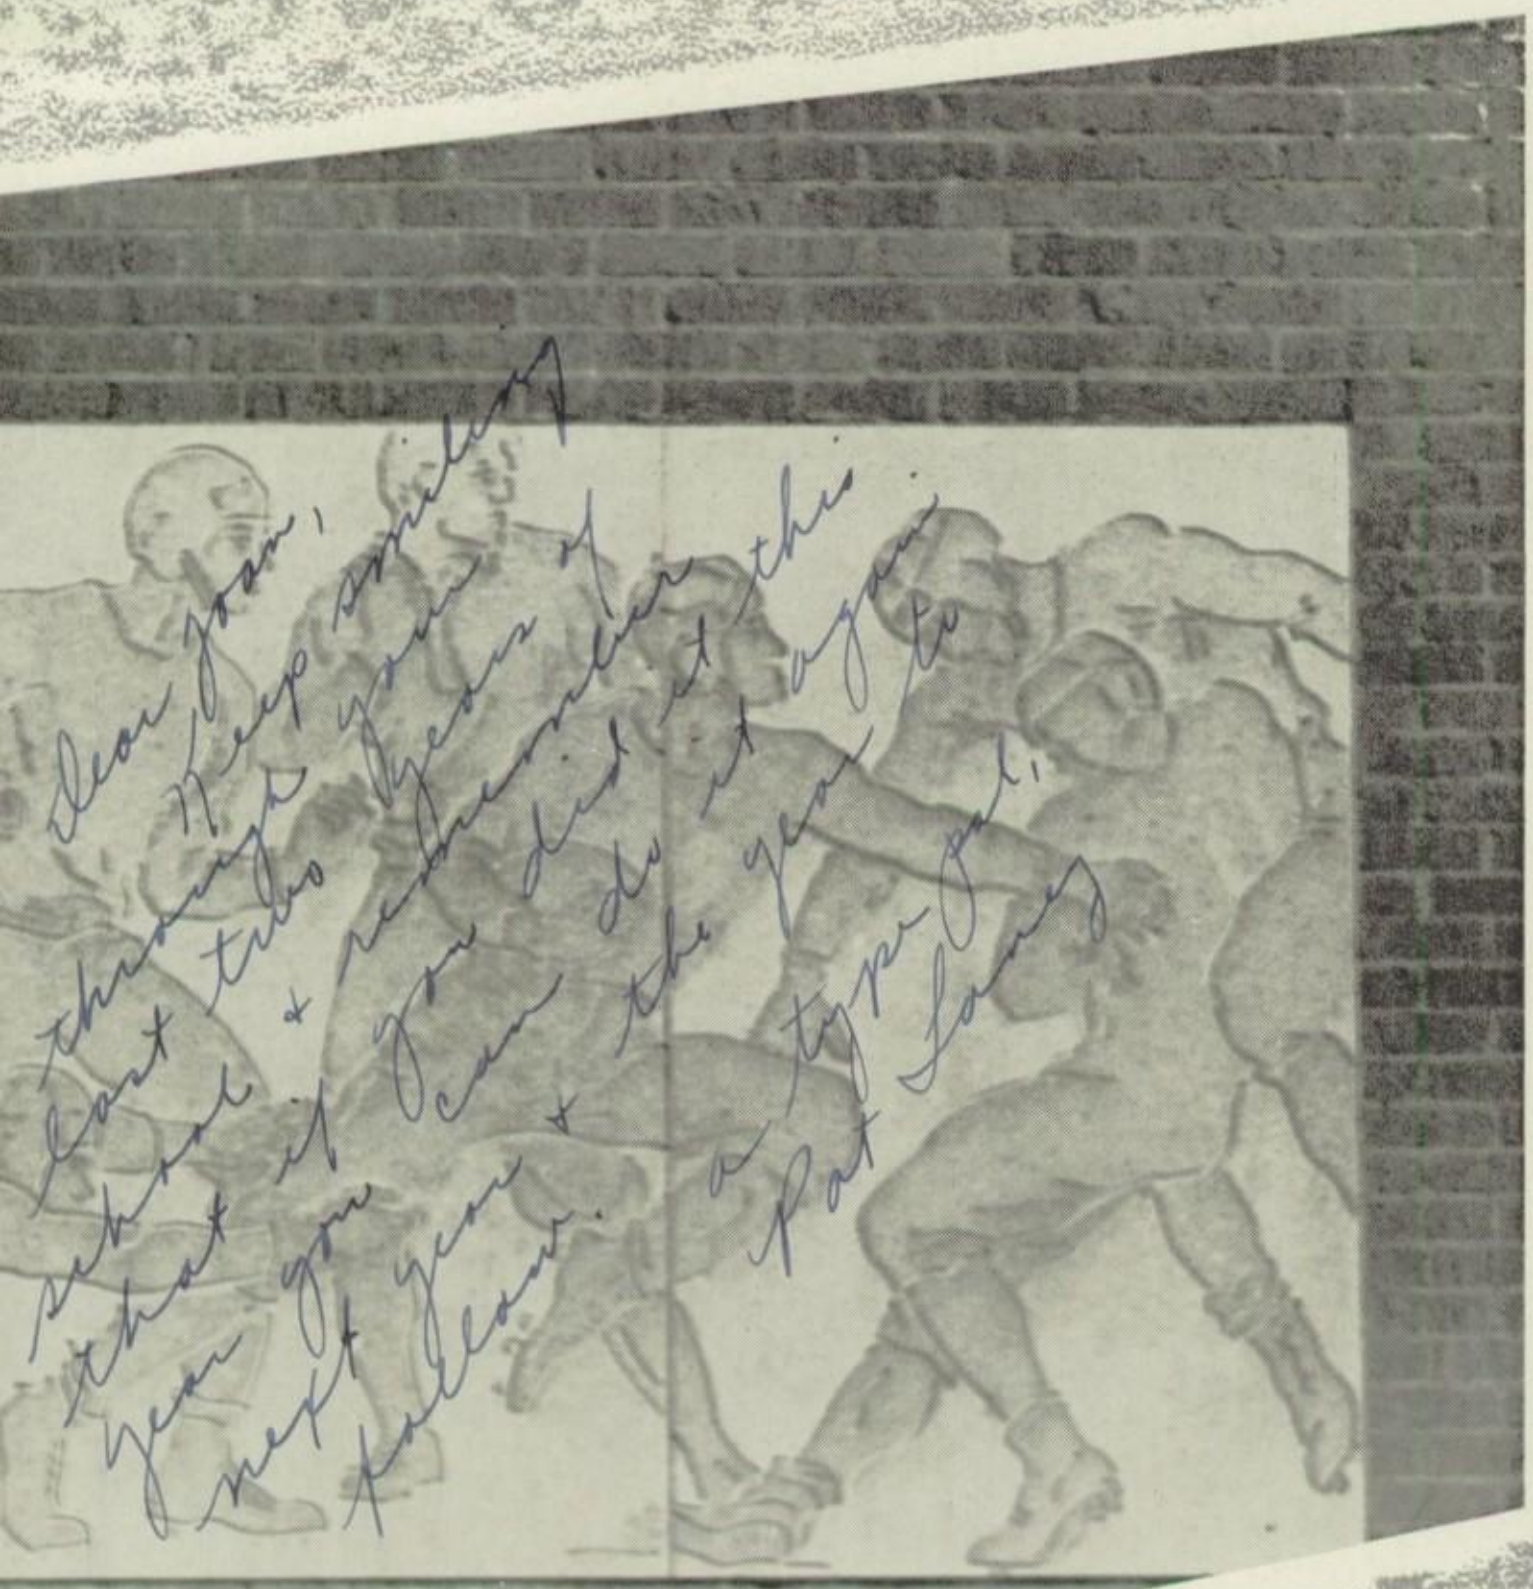
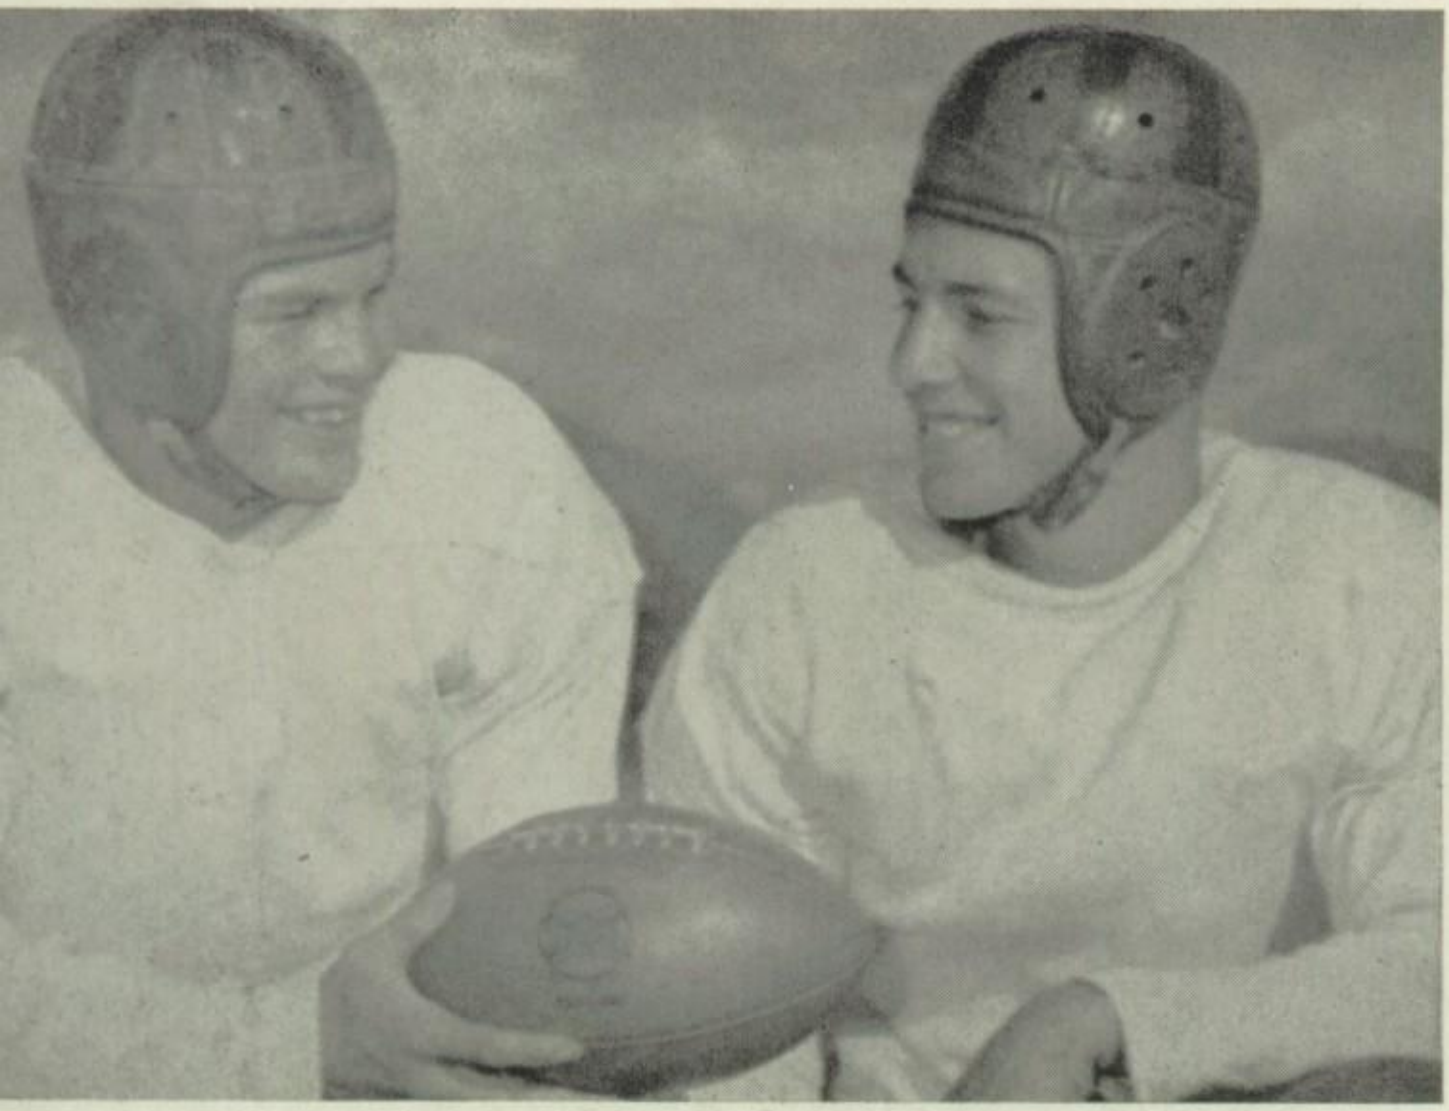
ROLLING STONES



Polished, bright, and shining are the rolling stones of athletics. The thrill of combat, the rousing cheers, the joy and sadness, these are but memories; but the tough fibre of strength, determination, and fortitude remain as our heritage in facing the battles of life.



Jack Zackrison and Ray Silcox, co-captains of the Farmer Championship machine were responsible for holding teams together in hard games . . . "great athletes."

The farmers capture "big 7" championship

Fielding a powerful, smooth-working grid aggregation, Rex Sutherland — ace football mentor — won more laurels by capturing the "Big 7" championship and taking second place in the state. Sporting a clever "T" formation and an unbreakable stone wall defense, the Farmer eleven smashed their way undefeated into the play-off for the state championship. However, in the final game, they suffered a 13-0 defeat, delivered by a sparkling Box Elder crew.

Granite places three on "Dream Team"

Captain and quarterback of the all-state eleven dream team was Jack Zackrison, our triple-threat field general, whose passing became legend throughout the state. Handling the center spot on the coaches' eleven was husky Hugh Hansen, a dependable, accurate four-quarter ball player in every game. A unanimous choice for end post was Ray Silcox, whose ability to get down under punts and to reach up into the air for rifle passes impressed the leading coaches of the state.

On September 22 the untried Farmer team blew the lid off the '45 football season in a night game with the Provo Bulldogs at the B. Y. U. Stadium. The game was rained out at the half with the score reading 7-7. Both teams showed good pre-season form.

For the second practice game of the year the Granitians met the orange and black squad from Murray on September 28 and played their first game under the new Granite arcs. They completely overran their opponents to win by a score of 26-18. During the encounter, our junior squad received its first test, playing about half the game.

On the night of October 5 a crowd of 7,000 turned out to see the Farmers play host to the South High Cubs in the Big Seven opener. Both teams played rugged heads-up ball, but neither one could break through to pay dirt. Score 0-0.

The following week, October 13, Granite met her old rival, Jordan, in another typical Granite-Jordan battle. The game was played at night under ideal conditions and before an overflow crowd. However, the Beetdiggers found a stone wall at Granite's goal line. Likewise, the Farmer eleven discovered that they were unable to break into the striped end.

October 19. After two scoreless games in a row, the hopped-up Granitians invaded the West gridiron to play the unpredictable Panthers. Holding West scoreless, the Farmers ran wild to chalk up 27 points.

November 2. Going into the second half of the season, Granite played host to Ogden for their last home game. Displaying the same punch and skill as they did at West the previous week, the Farmer machine rolled almost unhampered to score four times in rapid succession. Again the juniors were happy as they saw much action. Score 28-0.

November 9. Our spirited eleven took to the road to tussle with the formidable Davis Darts; the "Big 7" race was getting close with Granite, Davis, East and Jordan all in the running for the championship. It was a fast and furious game on a muddy field. However, a tricky pass from Zackrison to Eyre spelled disaster for the Darts and gave the Farmers the only score of the day. The conversion ended the game 7 to 0 for Granite.

November 16. On this date the deciding game of the "Big 7" race was played against the Eciders. The Leopards scored early in the encounter but failed to make the extra point. The Farmers then battled desperately for forty-four minutes before scoring on a sizzling pass from Zachrison to Caine. The crucial moment approached. The attempt was made for the extra point that meant a loss or victory. The usually boistrous crowd hushed as Jack's toe headed for the ball. Perfect! Granite won 7-6 to take the "Big 7" championship.

Granite installs new arc lights on gridiron

To make possible the playing of home games at night, Granite stepped out in style this year with the installation of arc lights on the football field. Through the cooperation of the Utah Power and Light Company 6 poles were erected on each side of the field, each supporting 1500 watt lights, which were placed 50 feet above the playing field to eliminate all glare and give an even distribution of light on the gridiron. Immediately night football became popular with Granite fans, as shown by the large crowds which attended each game.

Russ Magleby . . . came to Granite four years ago . . . acts as junior coach . . . played all-American basketball at B. Y. U. . . . congenial personality . . . popular on the campus.

With only two lettermen returning, the Granite Farmers again entered the basketball race, only to fall short of the much-coveted state championship. However, they did succeed in entering the Utah State Basketball Tournament for the nineteenth time, an accomplishment of which any school should be proud.

The Farmers survived the test of the usual preseason tryouts, losing only three of their games, one each to Provo, Park City and Weber. They retaliated later in return games with each school . . . were also the victor in several additional contests with schools throughout the state.

Their regular season was not quite so successful. The Fighting Farmers had to battle vigorously to win five games in order to enter the tournament as the third place team from the Big Seven.

The Farmers opened the season against the Davis Darts on their own floor. After the lead had changed hands several times, Davis finally forged ahead by five points in the final period. A last-minute Farmer rally was staved off, and the Darts went home victorious, 25-24.

Excitement and close action featured the clash between Granite and West at the Deseret Gym the following week. Demonstrating tight defenses and smooth offenses, the two teams were deadlocked at half-time and the end of the third quarter. The lead changed eight times in the final canto, but a last-second field goal clinched the game for the Farmers, 29-28.

The Farmers opened the game with the Ogden Tigers by a barrage of field goals. Granite held a 10-point lead throughout the fracas, although the Ogden five put up a valiant fight. A disheartened Tiger team returned to Ogden, after being defeated by our sturdy five, 40-24.

Rivalry was resumed against East on January 25 at the Deseret Gym. East went out in front in the first quarter, but Granite led, 14-10, at half-time. The teams were deadlocked at 21-21 at the end of the third period, and again at the four-minute rest period. Nevertheless, East's final surge in the last four minutes proved too much for Granite's Fighting Farmers. The final outcome was East 31, Granite 26.

Playing the first Tuesday game of the season, Granite was host to the South High Cubs. The Farmers seemed unable to find the loop, as the Cubs led all the way, penetrating the Farmer's defense time and again. The Cubs were jubilant as Granite bowed out in defeat, 31-26.

Three days later, a much-improved Farmer quintet met Jordan on the Beetdigger's floor. It was a low scoring game, the Farmers holding the Beetdiggers to only four field goals and three charity tosses for a total of 11 points, while they managed to score 24 points.

Half-season found Granite tied for third with South and Davis, having won three games and lost three. East held undisputed first place, and Jordan was second.

Granite opened the second half by downing Davis, 30-20. Although Granite led most of the way, Davis was continually threatening them. The Farmer offense was too much, though, and the Darts finally succumbed.

February 12 proved a great night for the Farmer scoring cog, as it reached up 38 points, while West managed to score but 22 points. Granite led by at least ten points throughout the entire game.

On February 15 the Ogden Tigers retaliated from an early season's defeat by thumping Granite 44-26. The Farmers were completely helpless against this smooth aggregation.

In a non-league game, Granite played host to the Carbon Dinosaurs from Price, Utah. The impregnable Farmer defense proved effective, and the southern Utah team was defeated, 28-21.

Back into league play again, the Farmers were once more humbled by the East Leopards, this time by a 34-27 score. It was a close contest all the way until the last two minutes of play, when East overtook the Granite lead and went on to win the game.

Ringing the bell for a total of 41 points, the Granite quintet downed the Cubs from South, 41-32. With Clark bombarding the basket for 20 points, the Farmers easily overcame the spirited Cub team.

After an exciting game the Beetdiggers edged Granite, 33-31. Granite led at the end of the third quarter, 23-21, but Jordan's last-minute rally proved the deciding factor.

STATE TOURNAMENT

The Farmers met the North Cache Bulldogs on the first day and suffered a hard-to-take defeat, 24-18. The second night was a Farmer holiday as Granite downed Davis, 37-31. Our traditional rival, Jordan, proved a tough competitor on the third day of this annual casaba contest by defeating Granite 34-28.

Wally Clark, Granite ace, was chosen on the coaches' all-state team.

Girls' activities

Top: Lena King stands balanced on her head while Leona Jensen "dives between legs."

Roughing, fun and "that trim figure" were offered by the tumbling team to all Granitians interested in this brisk activity.

Every Monday and Thursday after school in Granite's tumbling room girls displayed their rolling, rocking and balancing talents under the able-guidance of Mrs. Bennion.

On the "Fantasy for Dance" program the group presented several stunts showing the work and cooperation of each student.

Middle: Leona Jensen tries rolling over three, a trick requiring skilled body coordination.

Bottom: Beth Dowding and Darlene Merrill demonstrate "the rocking chair."

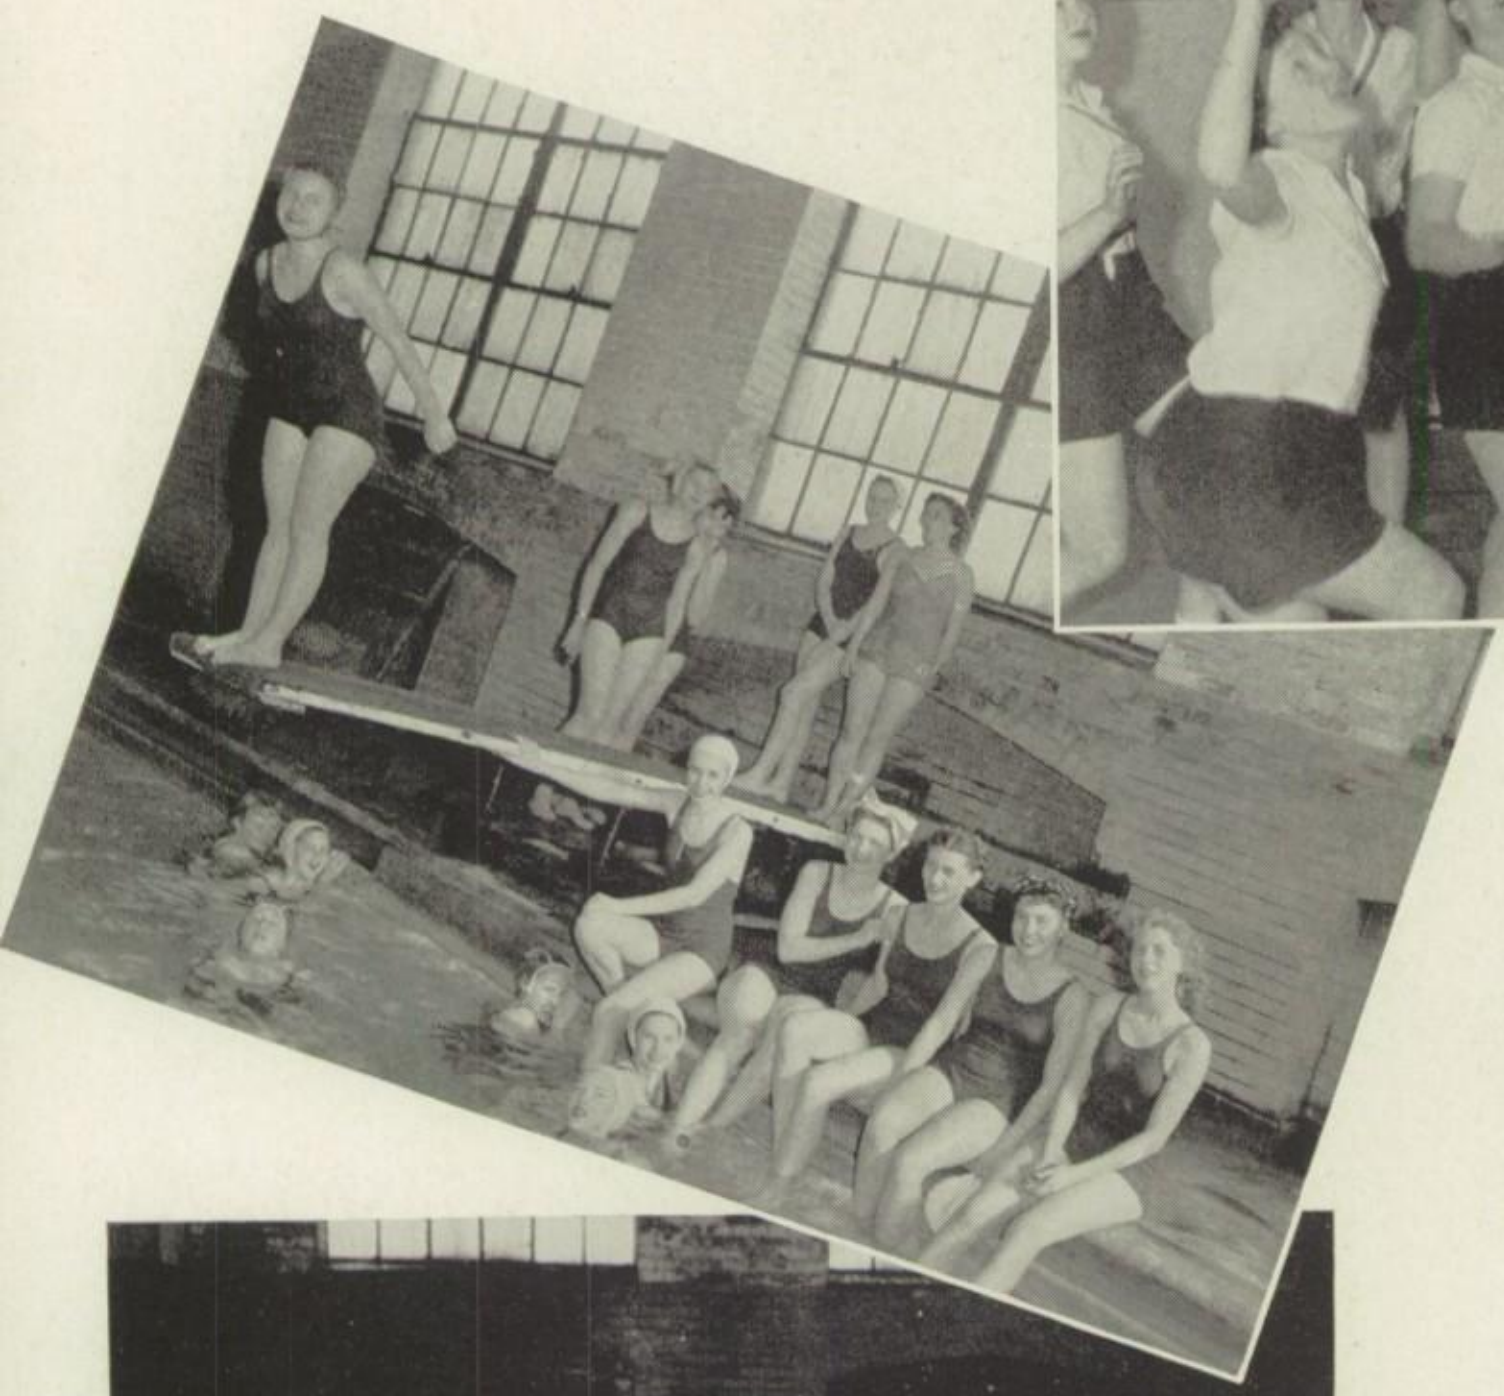
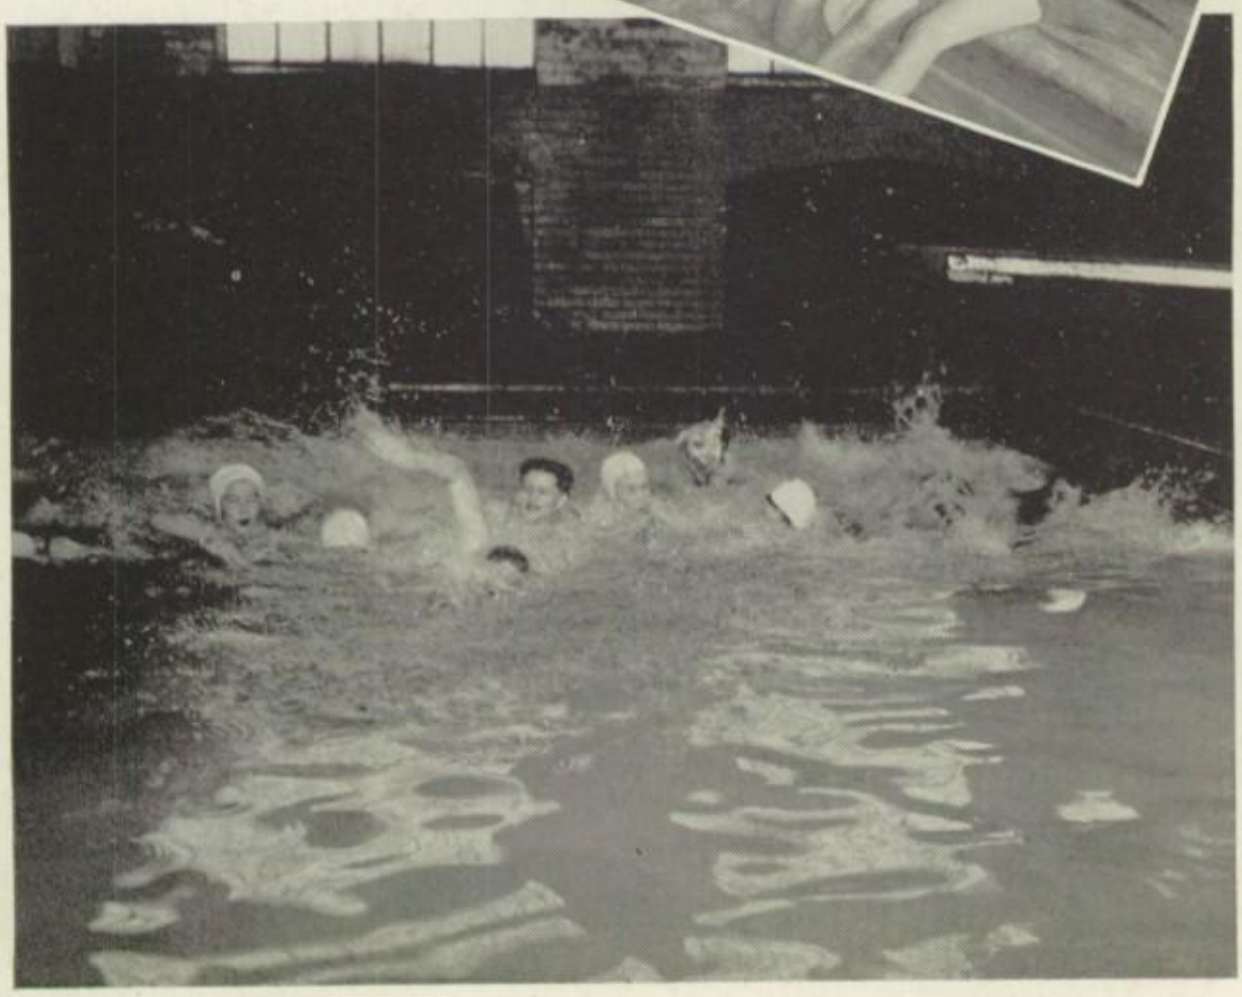
Quick-thinking players used fast and fancy footwork against their opponents as they participated in the daily basketball game held in the girls' gymnasium during the winter months; other members of the class acted as referees or cheered their favorite team.



Swimming courses under the expert teaching and direction of Miss Robbins and Mrs. Bennion were open every Monday and Thursday to all Granitian girls interested.



About fifty energetic "bathing beauties" discovered that keeping the body healthy can be fun while splashing vigorously in our luxurious pool.

"Fantasy for dance"

Fairlyland was the setting for the extraordinary dance review given by the Senior Girls' Dancing Classes under the direction of Miss Ruby Robbins.

The program depicted the adventures of a little girl (Bette Exeter) who became lost in the forest, fell asleep, and awoke in the land of make-believe. Those she met there included such characters as a fairy queen (Janice Day) and her crew, Mother Goose (Betty Anderson) and her nursery rhymes, Raggedy Ann (Darleen North) and Raggedy Andy (Betty Schleich), Chinese toadstools, Bunny Rabbit, Waltz of the Flowers, brownies, mechanical dolls, Seven Princesses, and a myriad of others.

By and large, the review was the most successful given at Granite, and the only criticisms heard after the performance were: "I enjoyed it very much, but wish there had been more."

Top: Peggy Fitzgerald and Marilyn Williamson are caught in the middle of a caper in their Horse and Buggy Dance.

Playing Miss Robin Hood in a rather up-to-date setting are these three sophomores from Mrs. Bennion's second period gym class. They are part of the archery team that makes our Granitian campus hazardous for unwary classmates.

In the center picture two more of our ambitious sophomores demonstrate their skill on the tennis court, while they look forward to the school tournament that has been tentatively suggested.

Top: Shirlene Belnap, Joline Welch and Dorothy Salisbury. Bottom: Joan Theobald and Joyce Hansen.

Girls participate in spring sports

These five girls on the baseball diamond handle the ball and bat in a businesslike manner while at the same time they add a charming touch to the attractive scenery for which Granite is noted. They will participate in a baseball tournament which has been planned for later in the Spring.

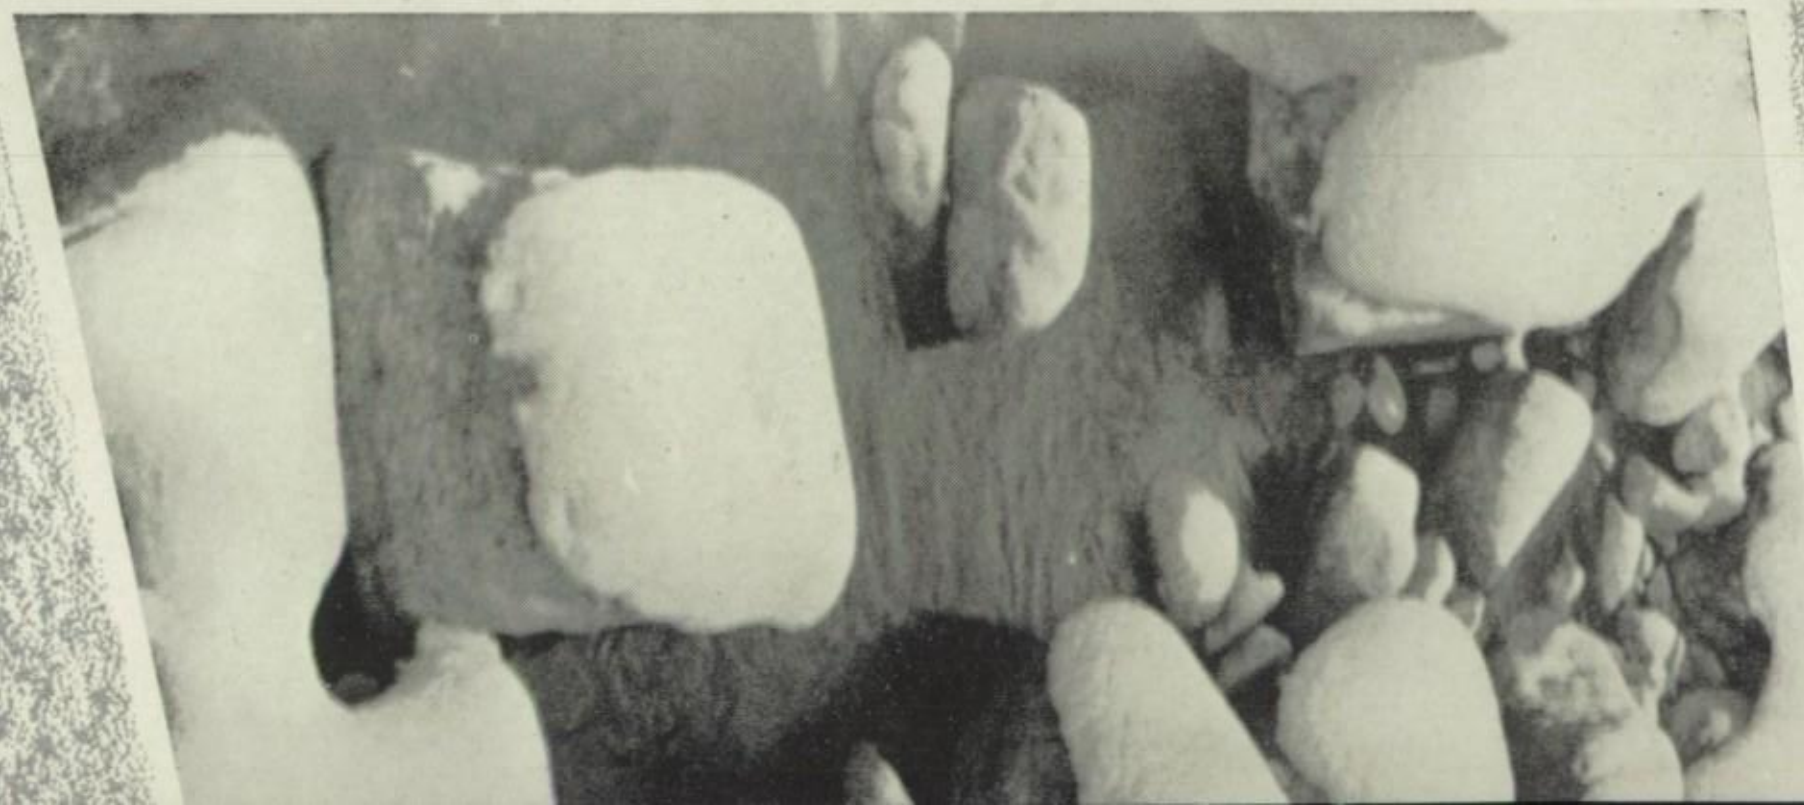
STEPPING STONES



"I am a part of all that I have met." The little, often unnoticed things of campus life, are stepping stones on the road to success and happiness. The whispered word, the hand of friendship, the cheery hellos, our life on the campus, these become steps to a bright new tomorrow.

Chemistry . . . Cooking . . . Physiology

Transforming a diamond into carbon dioxide is an easy task for the aspiring chemists of this fourth period class. Student experimentation adds interest as well as provides an opportunity for applying chemical principles in a practical way. A basic aim in chemistry is to arouse a scientific curiosity, which is characterized by a willingness to let evidence determine judgment.

The health of th American family is of national concern. That is why the girls in Mrs. Robinson's classes are interested in a study of everyday foods. Here they discuss how to cook and serve food attractively, how to get one's money's worth, how to achieve good manners, and how to select food wisely. In the laboratory class where they test breakfast, lunch and dinner recipes, they learn that working efficiently saves time, develops self-confidence, and gives one a great deal of pleasure.

"Mahatma Gandhi" looks dubious as physiology students examine his skeletal structure. Classmates learn to comprehend technical names, anatomical functions and tedious explanations by a method of memorizing simple rhymes and jingles. While students listen attentively, Mr. Burningham outlines the digestive system, discusses muscle coordination, and diagrams the skin structure.

Art . . . Dancing . . . Geometry

The art department this year was reorganized to offer four general courses: commercial art, design, drawing, and painting. Students in each course have found opportunity to develop new interests as well as to pursue old ones. A variety of media and techniques have been presented. Here we see a group of students at work on a composition in color with a figure as the central object.

To the strains of Strauss waltzes, fox trots, jazz, boogie-woogie, and even the classics, gracefully swing and sway the Senior girls who take modern creative dancing under the supervision of Miss Robbins. The year is highlighted by a delightful dance review in which the girls compose and execute their own dances and design their own costumes.

To the students of Mr. Dykman's fourth period geometry class such words as vertical, perpendicular, parallel, homologous, and adjacent become familiar terms. At the board students demonstrate related facts learned about parallel lines, triangles, perpendicular lines, and circles, thus proving that geometry lays the foundation for all philosophical study.

To acquire skill in formulating designs for machinery and mechanical implements and to become proficient in architectural drawings are the chief aims of the mechanical drawing classes, instructed by Mr. Dykman and Mr. Barrus. Here a student develops the habit of an orderly method of procedure and an attitude of pride in his ability to do useful things.

With accuracy and speed as the aim of every typing student, the type room resounds hourly to the hum of industrious students.

Typing classes are held daily with instruction from Miss Mason and Mr. Jorgensen. Students acquiring a maximum of speed and accuracy are entered in the annual type contest. Granite has always stood high in this contest owing to the efficiency of both students and teachers. Winners are awarded medals by the Gregg Publishing Company of New York for their accomplishments.

Under the direction of Gilbert Moss the electricity class has studied heating and lighting with electrical power and the construction of the electric motor. They have also received instructions on how to repair all types of electrical devices, and how to care for such tools as drill presses, taps and dies, punches, screw drivers and hammers. The class has assisted the student body in the construction of electric signs and the lighting of the gymnasium for special occasions.

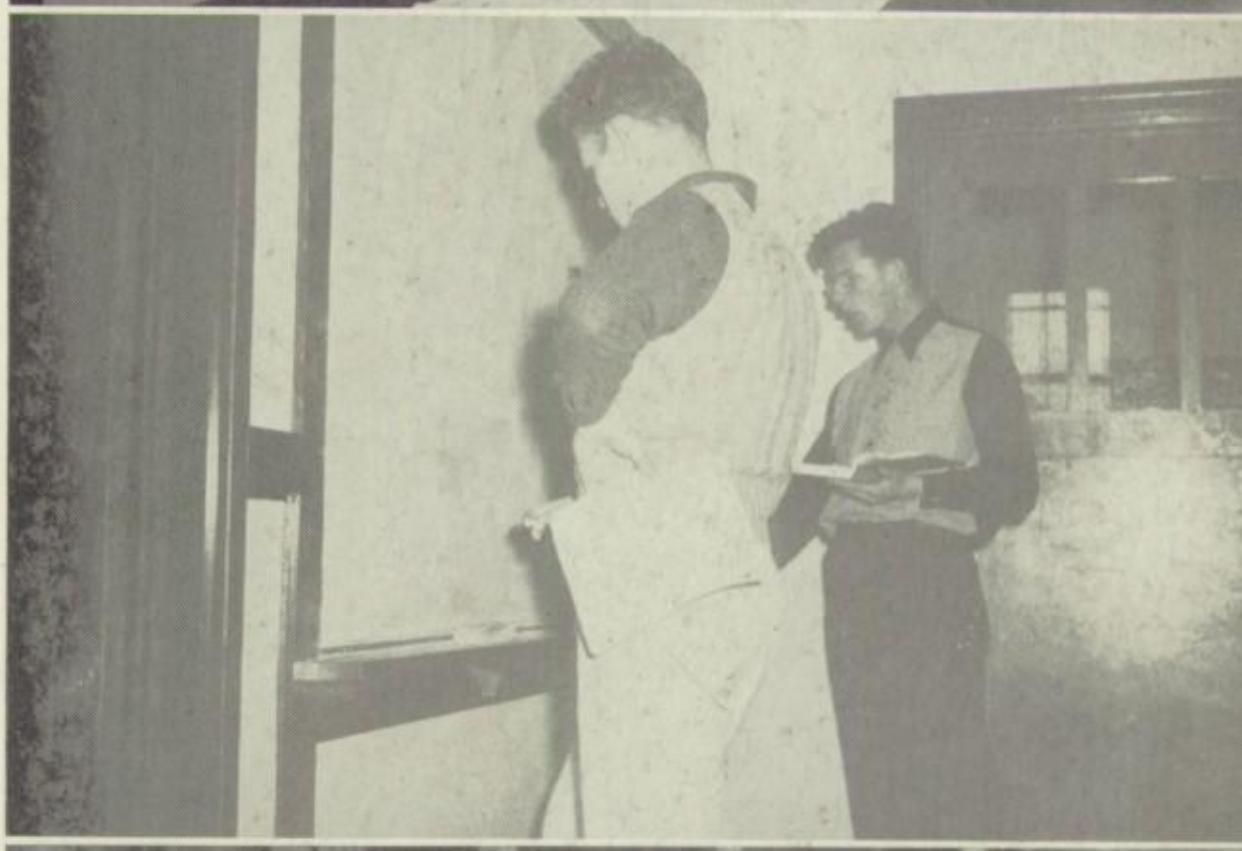
Clothing . . . Physics . . . Shorthand

Not only is perfection in being able to cut, sew, and finish a garment desired by students in Miss Richardson's clothing classes, but they also strive to become well-informed on the subjects of color, designing, and the selection of appropriate accessories.

Their completed products are greatly admired by the entire school. Enviable glances are sent their way as the girls step forth in lovely suits and coats, shimmering evening gowns, dainty afternoon dresses, and dream - inviting bed - time apparel.

The aim of the daily physics class, instructed by Mr. Poulson, is to teach students how men are succeeding in their efforts to control and improve their environment. To this and such questions as "How does electricity get into your home? What makes your automobile run? What causes the wind to blow? How does sound get from the teacher's lips to the student's ears?" are answered by methodic and technical work on the part of the teacher and student. In short, it is the province of physics to explain through reading or demonstration "Why?" "How?" and "What?"

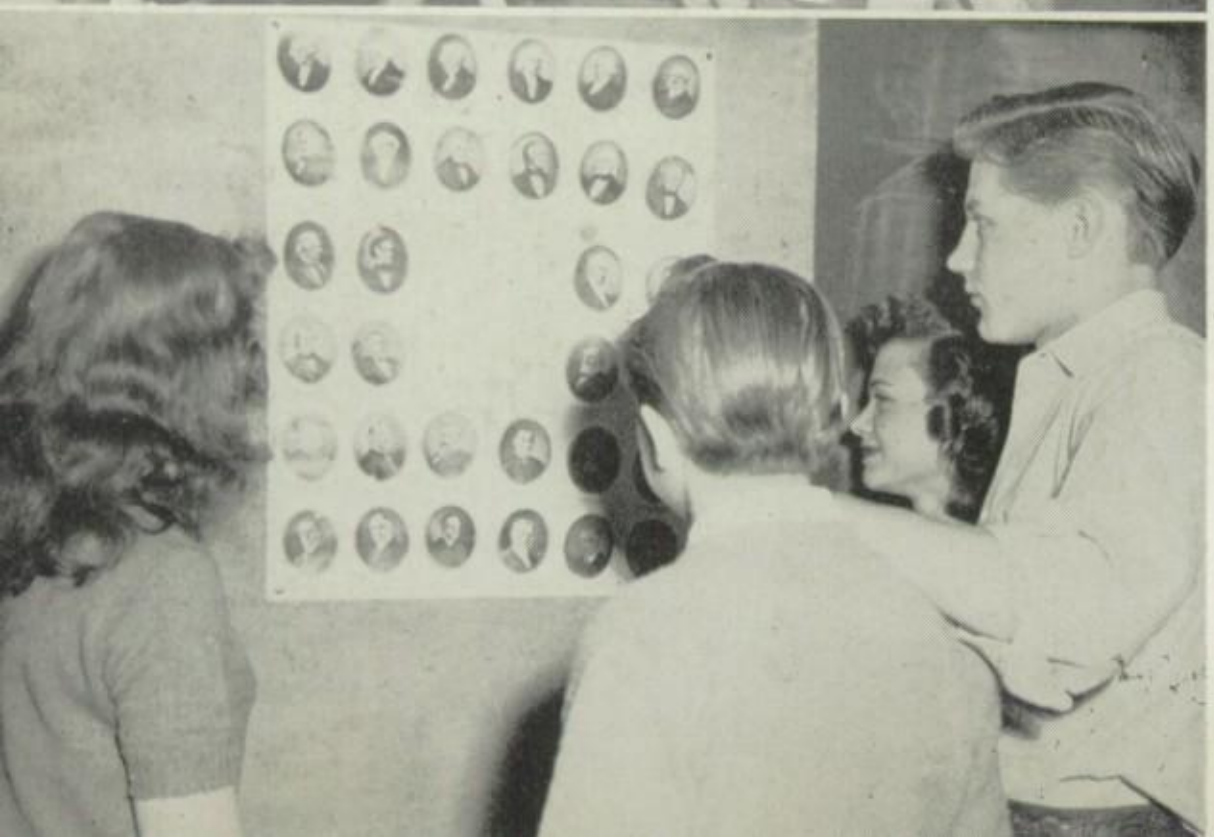


Under the capable instruction of Mrs. Bosh and Miss Mason, shorthand students are well on their way to becoming efficient stenographers. With the aim of being able to take 90 words a minute from dictation by the end of the first year and 120 words a minute at the end of the second year, students work diligently and with painstaking accuracy. Shorthand classes are valuable not only to the individual who intends to use business as a career, but also to the average scholar who uses it to save time. Student's ability in speed and accuracy is tested in the annual interschool tournament.

Baking . . . Gym . . . American history

The curiosity of students wandering through the L Building after school is aroused by the tempting odors which originate from within the baking class. Here, members are taught the value of ingredients, the causes of failure in finished products, and the process of baking rolls, cakes, pies and cookies. The course stresses large scale baking as a vocational field. Lucien Bates, instructor, inspires and encourages young bakers to take a place in industry.

Senior girls in Miss Robbins' gym class experience the swift, progressive action of a basketball game. At the beginning of the year classes are taught the rules, procedure and fundamentals of the game, and many competitive practices are held among teams. Such contests aid greatly in the development of quick thinking, judgment, mental concentration, resourcefulness, self-control and social attitudes.



Through the reading of text books, taking of notes, reporting on special events, and the drawing or interpreting of maps, students in American history classes venture back into the past and instantly see that it contains lessons valuable beyond compare. Since life today and that of the nation is largely the expression of the thoughts and will of its individuals, biography and American literature are emphasized. Ken La Vin, Carol Jean Graff, Jack Nuttall and Barbara Bonham study a chart in Miss Wilcox's room, presenting the presidents of the United States in the order in which they have held office.

Business English is the "finishing off" process which bridges the gap between a high school commercial course and actual office practice in a work-a-day world. Students are taught how to operate the various machines to be found in a regular office; they find much practice in doing the odd jobs around the school which are related to their commercial course of study.

The many strings of all former English training are brought together and tied into a knot in this, the last required English class of high school. Designed to develop each student's personal writing style and to acquaint him with America's literary heritage. Junior English walks hand-in-hand with American history. In the Junior English classes of today can be found the American writers of tomorrow.

Study classes were instituted in schools, not as a free hour in which to snatch an extra forty winks, but as a means of avoiding the wear and tear of getting all lessons done at home. These classes encourage the student to prepare the lesson for the next day, although many take advantage of the time to thumb through magazines or examine covers of the latest fiction.

Granite's library is growing year by year. When people, like Salom Rizk, donate their best books to our collection we become proud of it. Miss Spillman, librarian, assists students in choosing good reading from the many volumes of poetry, biography, history, romantic or realistic novels. Some, we observe, read to enlarge their knowledge; others read to gain inspiration or ideals. Many of the more truthful read simply because they like to do so; a few read from a grim sense of duty.

At work in the auto mechanics class are Kenneth Spencer, George Perschon, and Kazuto Namba, who use the dexterity of their hands and the reasoning power of their minds to determine what goes where, how, and why. The motor of a car is a complicated mechanism, but Mr. Davis reveals all the secrets to his students. The boys learn by doing, by experimenting, and by practicing. Cars of the students and community neighbors are the guinea pigs of their toil.

Swimming is one of the favorite activities of the physical education program for boys. Besides learning different strokes and the principles of diving, these boys enjoy contests and games such as speed races, endurance races, underwater races, diving contests, and tag. Although some boys see enjoyment in swimming, others realize the importance of knowing how to swim, and practice earnestly to develop breath control, strength, and muscular coordination. Since Granite has an excellent pool, these boys make good use of it.

BOYS' LEAGUE INSTITUTES CHARACTER DAY

The first of its kind at Granite, Character Day was instituted under the direction of the Boys' League, and resulted in mass pageantries of ridiculously animated characters promenading about the campus . . . we vied for attention with the Raggedy Anns, the hillbilly cousins, the charming little girls with freckles and pigtails, the George Washingtons, and many other interesting misfits . . . climaxed the day with a dance in the gym, where the prize-taking characterizations were announced.

We enjoy life

Top picture: No, they're not fugitives from a nightmare—just a group of our "glamorous" senior gals who let down their hair to be initiated into the Pep Club on October 26. With outrageous costumes and no make-up, these future Pepperettes were a spectacle we won't easily forget.

JUNIOR ASSEMBLY

We sympathized with Sergeant Hanchen, who was disappointed because of not receiving a medal for bravery . . . here he proudly displayed the "medal" given him spontaneously by an admiring student, while Mr. Hatch grinned with satisfaction.

We give and receive awards

We envied Bob Gambee as he received a $5 prize from Mrs. Muir of the P. T. A. for his original name, "Fiesta for Youth."

We laughed heartily at the antics of Bonnie Manwill in her "underwear dance" on the Junior Assembly.

We showed our admiration for our great football coach, Rex Sutherland, with applause, as he modestly bowed his head on one of the Pep Asemblies. . . .

We learned of the zestful personality of our Mayor, Earl J. Glade, when he spoke to us on the Thanksgiving Assembly.

We show admiration and sympathy

We enjoyed watching Dick Doudie "suffer" as Earl McGinty and Bruce Anreason smattered him with lemon-custard pie in his consequence on the Character Day Assembly.

We understood the agony Emma Lou Smith endured in her mythical visit to the dentist's, which she characterized so efficiently on the Junior Assembly.

These two lines give a hint of the cute tricks that Granite High School girls use to weave a web of intrigue over fellows and girls alike.

The pictures shown here suggest a few of the cuddle classics our debs feature in their wardrobes. The morning begins with a whale of a yawn and a demurely looking miss is a gorgeously flowered house coat. School time—8:30—sees outfits all different and all charming.

Honey
Hell we've had a few years ever since we have had our little quarrels. Cho Cho Oscar
Go to most I see the horse shows by with "Johnny" but I might catch you in between those times. Be a good girl and don't do any thing I wouldn't. Hell that's more enough room to have a good time.

Always Yours with Honey, Johnny, maybe this and all the rest.

Good luck Honey
